WRIT PETITION UNDER ARTICLE 32 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF INDIA SEEKING DIRECTIONS AGAINST THE RESPONDENTS.

To

THE Hon'ble Chief Justice of India and His Companion HON'BLE Judges of the Supreme Court of India

THE HUMBLE PETITION OF

THE PETITIONER ABOVE NAMED;

Most Respectfully Showeth:

- I. The present Writ Petition is being filed in the Public Interest under Article 32 of the Constitution of India, seeking a Writ of Mandamus to strike down the provisions under the Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017, specifically relating to provisions which levy a tax burden on disabled citizens who use medical devices and mobility equipment to carry out their day-to-day living, so as to lead normal lives like other able-bodied Indian citizens. That, the imposition of any tax on any essential mobility-aid used by a disabled person, is in gross violation of the Fundamental Rights as guaranteed under Articles 21, 21A, 19 (1) (d), 14 & 15. In view of the Hon'ble Supreme Court's numerous decisions on the subject, if any tax is of a socially divisive nature, it must be struck down. The Petitioner is filing this petition strictly in the public interest of the entire disabled community of India and has no pecuniary/monetary interest in the matter, since this is a grave issue concerning the fundamental rights of a large section of the population, especially their right to lead a life of dignity and their freedom to move freely throughout the territory of India, among various other rights that are also at stake. The Petitioner also seeks a purposive interpretation of the phrase “place of birth” contained within Article 15 of the Constitution, to include ‘disability’ within its meaning. The purpose of including the protection granted under Article 15 was to prevent any form of discrimination against citizens on arbitrary grounds of religion, race, sex and caste - and its express purpose was to create an equitable society. Thus, the inclusion of ‘disability,’ that too physical disability, is but a natural and legitimate extension of the protections envisaged by the drafters of the Indian Constitution.

- II. That the appropriate government agency was approached for relief, prior to filing this petition. The said letter is annexed herewith and marked as ANNEXURE P1 dated 15.06.2017, to which no reply till date has been received from the authorities.

2. PARTICULARS OF THE PETITIONER

The Petitioner is a citizen of India. His email ID is nipunmalhotra@gmail.com and his mobile phone number is +91 98719-53332. He is the Chief Executive Officer of the Nipman Foundation, a Charitable Trust established under the Society's Act, 1860 which works in the field of disability-related policy and education for the economically underprivileged. He is also the Executive Director of Nipman Fasteners Pvt. Ltd., which is an automotive ancillary supplier. The Pan Card as also the relevant Income Tax Returns of the Petitioner is annexed herewith. Annexure P 2 – Aadhar Card of the Petitioner; Annexure P 3 – PAN Card of the Petitioner along with ITR Return Statement.

3. DECLARATION AND UNDERSTANDING OF THE PETITIONER:-

a. The Petitioner, Shri Nipun Malhotra, age 28 years, is one of India's leading disability rights activists and scholars. Despite having a locomotor disability from birth called 'arthrogryposis', which leads to a lack of muscles in his arms and legs and renders him permanently dependent upon a wheelchair for basic mobility, he has worked tirelessly to improve the lives of thousands of other disabled citizens in India who face accessibility, financial and social barriers. The Petitioner, with support from his mother Mrs. Priyanka Malhotra, set-up a charitable organization called the Nipman Foundation, which, inter alia, works in the fields of disability-related awareness and public-policy research, and also provides education to economically underprivileged children across India. The foundation also distributes free wheelchairs and mobility aids to the economically underprivileged disabled community. The said Foundation is a properly registered entity under the Societies Registration Act, 1860, and is fully compliant with all the relevant rules and laws including auditing requirements. The Foundation also recognizes the social contribution of Corporate Houses to the cause of inclusion of the disabled into the mainstream and subsequently awards those companies which are making a positive impact. This awards ceremony is an annual activity of the Foundation and has also received recognition from the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, apart from other leading multinational corporations. Annexure P 4 – Long Form CV of the Petitioner.

- b. That, apart from being a disability rights activist and scholar, the Petitioner is also extremely well-qualified educationally and has graduated on merit and hard-work from the prestigious St. Stephens College, Delhi University, with a Bachelor's Degree in Economics and has also obtained his Master's Degree from the Delhi School of Economics. That, not one to allow his physical disability to deter him from pursuing him a Master's Degree in Business from one of India's premier Business Schools, the Petitioner has also obtained a Degree from the Indian School of Business (ISB) at Mohali and presently serves on its Board. Professionally, the Petitioner heads one of India's largest auto component businesses as its Executive Director. Notably, he has achieved all of this on his own merit and hard work. However, he specifically acknowledges the role of his parents and others who were instrumental in helping him overcome barriers to various opportunities. That, having been the grateful recipient of valuable educational and work related opportunities, he established his charitable foundation with the sole objective of helping others who were similarly affected by locomotor disabilities. The instant Petition has been filed purely for bonafide reasons and the Petitioner has come with clean hands and has no pecuniary/extraneous interest whatsoever in its outcome.

4. FACTS IN BRIEF:

IMPUGNED GST ACT, 2017 & NOTIFICATION DATED (28.06.2017) IMPOSING GOODS & SERVICES TAX ON MOBILITY AIDS USED BY DISABLED PERSONS

A. That, pursuant to the meeting of the GST Council dated 11.06.2017, the Respondent No. 1 decided to impose taxes, in different brackets/categories, on a variety of physical aids meant specifically for 'persons with disabilities'. For instance, it is shocking to note that taxes have been introduced and sustained on the most basic mobility aids used by those citizens who would otherwise not be able to carry out daily activities (such as walking and reading) which are taken for granted (and are tax free) by those who are able bodied. This list includes a cascading tax scheme on items such as wheelchairs, wheelchair enabled cars, braille paper, braille typewriters and braille watches, crutches/walkers, instruments and implants for severely handicapped patients and joint replacement and spinal instrument and implants including bone cement. That, even though the GST rate on these devices/equipment is at 5% and is therefore sought to be justified as being “concessional”, the fact is that any tax imposed on such items would amount to discrimination as envisaged under Article 15 of the Constitution and also under Article 19 (1) (d) which guarantees the unhindered right of movement to all citizens – irrespective of their personal physical disability and finally Article 21, which guarantees the right to lead a dignified life - regardless of disability. The said tax scheme violates Article 14 of the Constitution, as it permits a disadvantageous situation for a particular class of people, without specifying any reasonable differentia for doing so. Annexure P 5

– Minutes of the Council meeting dated 11.06.2017

B. The Petitioner, who on account of his permanent locomotor disability i.e. arthrogryposis does not have developed muscles in his limbs and is permanently reliant on a motorized wheelchair. Apart from his wheelchair, the Petitioner also uses a specially equipped motor vehicle which is enabled with a forklift for his wheelchair. That, nearly all citizens with locomotor disabilities rely permanently on external disability aids, and hence would stand severely affected as a class of citizens by any arbitrary increase in the price of such equipment.

IMPOSITION OF TAX ON BASIC MOBILITY AIDS
AMOUNTS TO PENALTY/DISCRIMINATION ON ENTIRE DISABLED COMMUNITY

C. It is submitted that any tax/levy which has the effect of making a basic mobility aid more expensive – specifically on items which enable those individuals to walk or read, when otherwise they would not have been able to do so, would necessarily amount to a gross violation of their most basic fundamental rights. Such a tax would therefore violate not only Article 21 which guarantees the Right to Life and Dignity of a citizen, but in effect would also permit the establishment of a tax structure which discriminates amongst those who are disabled, and must be struck down. That, any taxation scheme which levies a charge on domestic or even foreign manufacturers of mobility aids, would directly violate the disabled community's fundamental rights as a whole. It is critical to note that foreign manufacturers often produce mobility aids which are not produced by domestic manufacturers, and hence any additional tax on their import also violates the Fundamental Rights of Indian citizens who are disabled.

D. That, for the convenience of this Hon'ble Court, the taxes leviable on mobility aids under the GST Act, 2017, used by Persons with Disabilities are extracted below:

REVISED GST RATE FOR CERTAIN GOODS

S. No.	Chapter/ Heading/	Description of Goods	Earlier GST rate	Revised GST rate

--	--	---	--	--

That, from the aforesaid table, it is absolutely clear that the impugned tax provisions impose an unjustifiable financial burden upon a class of citizens, which is arbitrary and patently unjust. The same would amount to a tax on the 'free movement' or 'freedom to learn' of a disabled citizen and is therefore ultra vires the Constitutional scheme. Annexure P 6 – Notification No. 1/2017 dated 28.06.2017 is annexed herewith.

PROHIBITION AGAINST DISCRIMINATION BY THE
STATE OF PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES
GUARANTEED U/A 15 OF THE CONSTITUTION

E. That, while Article 15 of the Constitution of India specifically prohibits discrimination on the basis of religion, race, caste, sex or place of birth, it also creates an implied duty upon the State not to subject any citizen with an unreasonable burden, especially, in the nature of a financial levy or penalty which discriminates between citizens on grounds which are arbitrary and unjust. The impugned tax regime permits an unreasonable differentia which is sought to be carved out between citizens who are able bodied and those who are disabled. This 'discrimination' pertains specifically to the performance of basic activities, such as 'movement' (for those with locomotor disabilities) and 'reading' or 'learning' (for the blind). Therefore, the imposition of any tax, whatsoever be its rate, on a wheelchair used by a permanently disabled person, for instance, has the effect of creating a State-sponsored financial-barrier/penalty on a disabled person wanting to attain parity with another citizen who can 'move' or 'read' without the use of any external aids. It is in this regard that even a 0.01% (zero point zero one percent) tax imposed on an essential mobility item such as braille paper or wheelchairs would be totally discriminatory and thus fundamentally unfair. It is also submitted, that the Petitioner and others like him, possess a constitutionally ingrained Fundamental Right under Article 19 (1)

(d) and 15, to not be prevented, either by statutory, financial or physical barriers, from accessing public spaces or becoming literate owing simply to their physical limitations. It is therefore the constitutionally mandated duty of the State to not only remove barriers to the progress and development of those inherently disadvantaged class of citizens, but it is also their obligation to not (even unintentionally) impose financial burdens in the form an unconscionable tax burden on basic rights.

That, it is therefore respectfully submitted that any tax or government levy on any item which is an essential commodity for the use of persons with disabilities would amount to a State sponsored penalty on the disability of the affected person. The present petition specifically challenges the vires of such a tax levied upon the end users (disabled persons) as also those who manufacture such devices/equipments used exclusively by disabled persons - who form 2.7% of the total population as per the 2011 Census conducted by the Government of India.

PURPOSIVE INTERPRETATION OF ARTICLE 15 OF THE CONSTITUTION TO INCLUDE 'DISABILITY' IN THE PHRASE 'PLACE OF BIRTH'

F. It is respectfully submitted, that the phrase 'place of birth' in Article 15 of the Constitution intends to protect the rights of citizens from all forms of discriminatory actions by the State, primarily on factors which are arbitrary and beyond the control of the individual citizen. These relate to the religion, race, sex, caste and place of birth of the citizen in question. Thus, the express intention of the framers of the Constitution was to create a constitutional 'protection' which purposefully prohibited the State from discriminating against citizens on arbitrary grounds. The phrase 'place of birth' relates to one such prejudicial bias, and relates not only to overt considerations such as the actual geographical place where the citizen was born and/or the local community to which he/she belongs, but also subtle considerations relating to the physiological circumstances of the citizen's birth - owing to congenital/genetic defects at birth which limit his/her physical or intellectual capabilities. Furthermore, permitting a State action, in the form of a taxing statute or any other statutory policy, which allows the State to discriminate against an entire class of citizens for a limitation which is entirely beyond their control would be patently unconstitutional and must be struck down. The Petitioner contends that the meaning and consequent legal interpretation of the phrase 'place of birth' must necessarily include the physiological characteristics a citizen is endowed with at the time of his/her birth. Let us take an illustration. The Petitioner, although born with a severe physical disability which put him at an immediate disadvantage as compared to his peers, overcame his limitations and obtained a first-grade education and is today an extremely productive member of society. Thus, any Tax or Statutory charge which acts as a barrier to his basic freedoms of movement or learning, would be an additional barrier to his efforts to obtain parity with his fellow citizens who are not dependent on external mobility aids. It is therefore respectfully submitted, that the time has now come to accord the entire disabled community constitutional recognition as a specially protected class of people who deserve the protection carved out under the heads specified in Article 15 of the Constitution.

The most effective way of achieving this 'purpose' of Article 15, as envisaged by the drafters of the Constitution, would be to expand the meaning of the phrase 'place of birth' to include the health-conditions or characteristics a citizen is born with, or even acquires later in life owing to an accident or for medical reasons. That, in the case of Hindustan Lever Ltd. v. Ashok Vishnu Kate &Ors., [1996 (6) SCC 326], this Hon'ble Court upheld the method of 'purposive construction' if it gives effect to the true legislative purpose, as intended by those who drafted the provision in question. The Court was interpreting the provisions of the Maharashtra Act, and held, that while considering and interpreting a Social Welfare Act the approach to statutory interpretation must be one which effectuates the 'purpose' for which such legislation was enacted. In the present case, the contention of the Petitioner, most respectfully, is that Article 15 must not be read restrictively and in a manner which limits the purpose for which it was enacted by the makers of our constitution - it must be interpreted in a manner that extend the maximum benefit (or protection against discrimination in this case) to the maximum number of citizens - including those with disabilities.

FUNDAMENTAL RIGHT OF MOVEMENT
GUARANTEED UNDER ARTICLE 19 (1) (d):

G. That furthermore, Article 19(1) (d) of the Indian Constitution expressly guarantees to all citizens (disabled included), the fundamental right to move freely throughout the territory of India. This guarantee is impliedly extended to even those with loco-motor disabilities and hence the imposition of any tax or levy which curtails that right in any manner is unconstitutional and must be set aside. The Petitioner, and others like him who are permanently dependent upon mobility aids such as wheelchairs, are directly affected as a community by the imposition of the GST on these goods. Such a taxing provision has the effect of taxing a basic function of their life - i.e. movement. That even a prima facie analysis of the taxation scheme under the GST reveals a highly discriminatory approach against those with disabilities, as it equates their consumption of mobility aids with that of able-bodied citizens who do not 'depend' upon such equipment for their movement. Although such an effect cannot be attributed to malice on the part of the State or said to be 'intended,' however, the consequence of such a levy is patently unconstitutional for an entire section of the population and must be struck down.

FUNDAMENTAL RIGHT TO LIFE AND
EDUCATION GUARANTEED UNDER ARTICLE 21
& 21A:

H. The imposition of any tax/levy even on input materials purchased by any member of the manufacturing chain which produces mobility aids, ought to be eligible for 100% input tax credit, so as not to pass on any of the tax burden to the disabled consumer, even indirectly. The resultant input tax credit refunded to the manufacturer is not only desirable, but also the constitutional mandate of the State, inasmuch as it prevents the tax burden from being passed on to the disabled consumer. Similarly, the tax rate upon the final consumer, which is presently at 5% for most disabled items, is patently unconstitutional and should be struck down. Under the present GST regime, although the manufacturer receives 100% input credit, however the end-user i.e. the disabled consumer, is still burdened by the 5% tax rate. This increase, albeit small, in the total price of the mobility aid is grossly unfair and tantamount to a penalty for being disabled and wanting to be mobile. Such an increase directly affects the ability of the disabled person to purchase the product. In Indian Express Newspapers vs. Union of India, [1985 (1) SCC 641], the Hon'ble Supreme Court struck down the Customs Duty imposed on newsprint used by newspapers and classified it as an "over-burden" on newspaper companies. The Court also observed that a "wise administrator should realize that an imposition of tax like the customs duty on new newsprint is an imposition on knowledge and would virtually amount to a burden imposed on the common-man for being literate and for being conscious of his duty as a citizen to inform himself about the world around him." In the present case the same analogy would apply, whereby the imposition of tax, no matter how minimal it might be in absolute terms and also in its impact upon the intended audience, it would still amount to an impermissible burden on a section of society which is compulsorily dependent on such goods for reasons beyond their control. In the same case, this Court also observed that where fundamental rights and freedom of the individual are being considered, a Court should be very cautious before accepting the view that some particular disregard of them is of minimal account. In the present case, it would be grossly violative of the constitutional rights of the disabled community if the impugned taxes are accepted as just and reasonable.

- I. That also, in the case of Sakal Papers (P) Ltd. vs. Union of India, [(1962) 3 SCR 842], this Court struck down Government imposed restrictions of advertising on newspapers as being violative of the fundamental right of freedom of expression. The Court accepted the reasoning that the restriction of reduced advertising would lead to an increase in the price of the newspaper, which in-turn would cause a reduction in the circulation of the paper. In the instant case the same analogy applies, whereby any imposition of a tax on braille paper or wheelchairs would automatically lead to a reduction in their usage, thus creating a direct and unreasonable restriction on the fundamental right of a certain class of citizens to obtain education as to move freely.

J. It is a settled principle of taxing statutes, that the power to tax and even discriminate is governed by an overarching rider – that the classification it seeks to draw must be just and reasonable. Furthermore, the extent of reasonability of any taxing statute lies in its ability to achieve the object as sought by the statute. The final test for any statute - taxing or otherwise, is that it must not offend Part III of the Constitution. Thus, the classification share a nexus with the Object sought to be achieved. In the present case the short-title of the Act creates a provision for the levy and collection of tax on inter-state supply of goods or services or both, by the Central Government and matters connected therewith. In the case Aashirwad Films vs. Union of India[2007 (6) SCC 624], this Hon'ble Court held that even in statutes where the objective has a wide range, the entire subject matter is also required to be considered from a 'social angle'. It was further held, that it cannot be the object of any statute to be socially divisive in which case it shall fall foul of the constitutional scheme enshrined under Articles 19, 21, 21A, 14 & 15 and also the Preamble of the Constitution of India. This court specifically held that the object of a taxing statute has to be tested on the touchstone of social values as mentioned in the Constitution, and an adverse conclusion can be drawn if a particular provision offends those constitutional guarantees. This Court further observed that “it is one thing to say that a taxation statute does not further social good, but quite another when it disturbs the social fabric. The Court may take adverse note in respect to statutes falling in the latter category.” In the present case the GST imposed on devices and equipment for the disabled has the direct and immediate effect of creating an unreasonable and unjustifiable disadvantage upon those who require these goods to carry out their normal day-to-day activities. That furthermore, it is a long settled principle laid down by this Hon’ble Court that the validity of the legislation imposing a tax can be challenged on the ground that it violates the Fundamental Rights guaranteed under Part III of the Constitution (Raja

JagannathBaksh Singh vs. State of U. P. [1962
AIR 1563])

K. That, the recognition accorded to the Fundamental Rights of a 'person with disabilities' has been upheld by this Court very recently in the matter of JeejaGhosh vs. Union of India,[(2016)7 SCC 761], where this Court was constrained to hold that the "non-disabled do not understand disabled ones" (Para 34 of the Judgment). The instant petition highlights this pressing issue of total lack of sensitivity on the part of the officials responsible for imposing a Good and Services Tax (GST) on medical devices and equipment used by people with disabilities. This Court went on to hold that "the rights that are guaranteed to differently abled persons under the Persons with Disabilities Act, 1995 are founded on the sound principle of human dignity which is the core value of human rights and is treated as a significant facet of the right to life and liberty. Such a right, now treated as a 'human right' of the persons who are disabled, has its roots in Article 21 of the Constitution. Jurisprudentially, three types of models for determining the content of the constitutional value of human dignity are recognized.

These are:

(i) Theological Models, (ii) Philosophical Models, and (iii) Constitutional Models. Legal scholars were called upon to determine the theological basis of human dignity as a constitutional value and as a constitutional right. Philosophers also came out with their views justifying human dignity as core human value. Legal understanding is influenced by theological and philosophical views, though these two are not identical. Aquinas and Kant discussed the jurisprudential aspects of human dignity based on the aforesaid philosophies. Over a period of time, human dignity has found its way through constitutionalism, whether written or unwritten. Even right to equality is interpreted based on the value of human dignity. Insofar as India is concerned, we are not even required to take shelter under theological or philosophical theories. We have a written Constitution which guarantees human rights that are contained in Part III with the caption "Fundamental Rights". One such right enshrined in Article 21 is right to life and liberty.

Right to life is given a purposeful meaning by this Court to include right to live with dignity. It is the purposive interpretation which has been adopted by this Court to give a content of the right to human dignity as the fulfillment of the constitutional value enshrined in Article 21. Thus, human dignity is a constitutional value and a constitutional goal. What are the dimensions of constitutional value of human dignity?

It is beautifully illustrated by Aharon Barak (Former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Israel) in the following manner:

“The constitutional value of human dignity has a central normative role. Human dignity as a constitutional value is the factor that unites the human rights into one whole. It ensures the normative unity of human rights. This normative unity is expressed in the three ways: first, the value of human dignity serves as a normative basis for constitutional rights set out in the constitution; second, it serves as an interpretative principle for determining the scope of constitutional rights, including the right to human dignity;

third, the value of human dignity has an important role in determining the proportionality of a statute limiting a constitutional right.”

All the three goals of human dignity as a constitutional value are expanded by the author in a scholarly manner. Some of the excerpts thereof, are reproduced below which give a glimpse of these goals: 2 Aharon Barak “Human Dignity – The Constitutional Value and the Constitutional Right” Cambridge University Press (2015) Writ Petition (C) No. 382 of 2014 Page 44 of 54 “The first role of human dignity as a constitutional value is expressed in the approach that it comprises the foundation for all of the constitutional rights. Human dignity is the central argument for the existence of human rights. It is the rationale for them all. It is the justification for the existence of rights. According to Christoph Enders, it is the constitutional value that determines that every person has the right to have rights... The second role of human dignity as a constitutional value is to provide meaning to the norms of the legal system.

According to purposive interpretation, all of the provisions of the constitution, and particularly all of the rights in the constitutional bill of rights, are interpreted in light of human dignity... Lastly, human dignity as a constitutional value influences the development of the common law. Indeed, where common law is recognized, judges have the duty to develop it, and if necessary modify it, so that it expresses constitutional values, including the constitutional value of human dignity. To the extent that common law determines rights and duties between individuals, it might limit the human dignity of one individual and protect the human dignity of the other.”

ARTICLE 14:

L. That, the Petitioner challenges the Constitutionality of the impugned GST levy on essential mobility devices meant for the disabled upon the touchstone of Article 14. It is respectfully submitted, that any tax or levy on a basic mobility item used by the disabled, fails the long-standing test of equality laid down by the Hon’ble Supreme Court. This Hon’ble Court held in Sri SrinivasanThreater and Ors vs. Government of Tamil Nadu,[1992 (2) SCC 16], that “Article 14 of the Constitution enjoins upon the State not to deny to any person 'Equality before law' or 'the equal protection of laws' within the territory of India. The two expressions do not mean the same thing even if there may be much in common 'Equality before law' is a dynamic concept having many facets. One facet - the most commonly acknowledged - is that there shall be no privileged person or class and that none shall be above law. A facet which is of immediate relevance herein is the obligation upon the State to bring about, through the machinery of law, a more equal society envisaged by the Preamble and Part IV of our Constitution. For, equality before law can be predicated meaningfully only in an equal society i.e., in a society contemplated by Article 38 of the Constitution, which reads:

Article 38: State to secure a social order for the promotion of welfare of the people. In the present case, the imposition of a tax upon essential goods used by the disabled creates a stark distinction between the able bodied and the disabled, whereby the former are effectively treated as a privileged class unencumbered by any tax on their movement as also their ability to read. Such a discrimination is inherently flawed - even though it might be unintended, but the direct consequence is patently unconstitutional as it deprives equal treatment to a segment of society, and that too on no intelligible differentia.

CANADIAN SYSTEM OF GST – PROTECTION DISABLED

M. It would be profitable to refer to the GST systems in operation in other Commonwealth Countries, which specifically carve out an exception for manufacturers and users of disability aids. These exceptions are in the form of statutory tax exemptions, whereby the entire manufacturing/supply chain right up till the end user is fully exempted from paying any taxes for all Goods and Services meant for the use of Persons with Disabilities. Extracted below is a chart which deals with the county wise tax exemptions offered for persons with disabilities.

COUNTRY-WISE COMPARATIVE GST RATES ON MEDICAL EQUIPMENT FOR DISABLED PERSONS

COUNTRY	GST RATE	INPUT TAX CREDIT
Canada	0%	Available
Australia	0%	Available
United Kingdom	0%	Available
Ireland	0%
New Zealand	0%	Available

That, from the aforesaid table it becomes absolutely clear that most commonwealth nations give due recognition to the rights of the disabled and does not burden them with the imposition of additional taxes on essential mobility aids.Annexure P 7–GST in Canada on disability good; Annexure P8 - GST in Australia on disability good; Annexure P 9 - GST in United Kingdom on disability good; Annexure P 10 - GST in Ireland on disability good; Annexure P 11 - GST in New Zealand on disability good.

GROUNDS:

- a) Because the imposition of any tax/duty/levy, such as the one contemplated under the Goods and Services Tax Act, 2017 on essential mobility aids used by disabled people is totally violative of Fundamental Rights guaranteed under Articles 21, 21A, 19 (1) (d), 14 and 15.
- b) Because the imposition of a tax on wheelchairs meant for those with permanent locomotor disabilities, is akin to imposing a financial penalty on the able-bodied for walking. Such a taxing regime is directly violative of Article 19 (1) (d) as also Article 14 of the Constitution and must be immediately struck down.
- c) Because the imposition of any tax/cess on Braille-material and writing paper is akin to imposing a State sponsored financial burden on reading, which is directly violative of the Right of Free Speech and Expression for the entire blind community which relies on such aids as essential goods.

d) Because Article 15 of the Constitution specifically prohibits any discrimination by the State against any citizens on grounds of “place of birth” among other grounds of religion, race, sex and caste. Therefore, the circumstances of any citizen’s birth which render him/her disabled (whether genetic or acquired later in life), would indeed be covered under the protection envisaged by the framers of the Constitution. The imposition of any tax which discriminates against a class of citizens, who by virtue of their ‘place of birth’ are rendered disabled and, who, to obtain parity with other able-bodied citizens rely upon mobility aids upon such tax is imposed, would necessarily be prohibited as unconstitutional. Furthermore, Article 15 also protects against any discrimination which poses a restriction upon a citizen’s right to access or use public spaces.

e) Because Article 47 of the Constitution enjoins the State to protect the health, nutrition and welfare of all its citizens (emphasis supplied). The improvement of public health is a duty cast upon the State and necessarily includes the welfare of the disabled. Thus any State action which runs contrary to such a duty, would be rendered unjust on this ground as well and must therefore be struck down.

f) Because in the case of Ashirward Films, [(2007) 6 SCC 624], this Hon'ble Court clearly stated that the objective of any taxing statute must be tested against Article 14 and cannot in any event be permitted to have a socially divisive outcome.

g) Because there is a Statutory duty cast upon of the State in respect of the Rights of a Person with Disability Act, 2016, whereby the entire frame-work of the Act is dedicated to the establishment of equality and removal of barriers faced by Persons with Disabilities. Because also, sections 25, 28, 31, 40, 41, 44, and 47 deal directly with the removal of barriers faced by persons with disabilities.

h) Because, Section 2 (s) of the Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016, defines a person with a disability "as someone with long-term physical, mental, intellectual or sensory impairment which, in interaction with barriers hinders his/her full and effective participation in society equally with others. Thus, while on the one hand the Government accepts its statutory responsibility toward those with disabilities and ensuring their equal development and it cannot, on the other hand, permit an imposition of a tax on equipment which brings basic relief to those who are inherently disadvantaged due to their disability.

P R A Y E R:

In view of the facts and circumstances stated above, it is therefore prayed that this Hon'ble Court in Public Interest may be pleased to:

- A) Strike down the levy of GST on essential equipment for disabled people (wheelchairs, specially equipped vehicles for disabled, braille papers, crutches etc.) as being unconstitutional under Articles 14, 15, 19(1)(d), 21, and 21-A; and
- B) Apply a purposive interpretation to Article 15 of the Constitution and expand the meaning of the phrase 'place of birth' to include 'disabilities' acquired either by birth or by extraneous reasons beyond the control of the citizen; and

C) any other appropriate writ, order or direction may be kindly issued in the interest of justice and fair play.

AND FOR THIS ACT OF KINDNESS, THE PETITIONER AS IN DUTY BOUND SHALL EVER PRAY.

SUBJECT: GST EXEMPTION FOR THE GOODS NECESSARILY REQUIRED BY PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

Dear Ashok Lavasa Ji,

- A. I am writing to you on behalf of the 2.21% population of India which is disabled.
- B. At the outset, I would like to extend my sincere admiration towards the inclusive policies adopted by our Government and particularly the zeal with which our Hon"ble Prime Minister is fighting for the rights of millions of disabled Indians like me.
- C. I remember the message delivered by the Hon"ble Prime Minister on the event of International Day for Persons with Disabilities 03.12.2016 when he exhorted the nation as "continue our ongoing efforts with renewed vigour and create a nation where both accessibility and equality prevail" as the mantra for Inclusion of Person with Disabilities and the Sugamya Bharat Abhiyaan (Accessible Bharat Abhiyaan) has become a collective call to action for the country.
- D. Furthermore in addition from being a social activist, I am not an entrepreneur, and therefore I would like to further extend my admiration at this Government"s determined resolve to strongly come forth with the much awaited GST policy programme. The credit for the bold reform goes to the strong leadership, combined efforts of your Ministry and its dedication for instituting public oriented policies under the remarkable stewardship of our dear Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi Ji, that after 16 years and 4 Lok Sabhas, the GST Model is finally on the verge of becoming a reality. Amidst this phenomenal growth, both in terms of social indicators and economic progress, it pains me to have to point our, what may have been an unintended oversight by the drafters of the GST Model.

E. As per the GST Council meeting dated 18.05.2017, I was quite surprised to learn of a proposal to levy GST on commodities essentially required by Persons with Disabilities. I reproduce the Table for your reference, below:

S.NO.	PRODUCT NAME	PROPOSED GST
1.	Braille Paper	5%
2.	Braille Typewriters, Electric Non Electric	5%
3.	Carriage for Disabled Persons, whether or not motorized	5%
4.	Cars for Physically Handicapped Persons	18%
5.	Braille Watches	5%
6.	Assistive Devices, rehabilitation aids, and other goods for Disabled Specified in List 32 Appended to Notification No. 12/2012 Customs, dt. 17.03.2012 (at SI No. 90 (5))	5%
7.	Hearing aids and Other Appliances which are worn on carried or implanted in the body, to compensate for a defect or disability	12%

As is clear from the above table, it is rather unfair the those who are already burdened with physical limitations which further have the effect of limiting mobility and interaction with one's environment, instead of measures to reduce these barriers our Government is proposing to impose onerous financial barriers. This Policy decision should be reconsidered and reversed, keeping in mind our Hon'ble Prime Minister's vision qua the rights of the disabled.

Even in countries like Austria and Canada, where GST, is enforced tax exemptions are provided to the Persons with Disabilities. Our legislators and judiciary have always worked for the cause of inclusion of persons with disability and have protected their constitutionally guaranteed right of equality, dignity and freedom of movement. For your convenience, I am reproducing below, some instance where our Judiciary has actively intervened to uphold the cause of the cause of social inclusion of persons with disability:

1. In Union of India v. National Federation of Blind and Ors. the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that "it is an alarming reality that the disabled people are out of job not because of their disability comes in the way of their functioning rather it is the social and practical barriers that prevent them from joining the workforce. As a result, many disabled people live in poverty and in deplorable conditions. They are denied the right to make a useful contribution to their own lives and to the lives of their family. the Hon'ble Supreme Court also held that "the Union of India, the State Governments as well as Union Territories bare a categorical obligation under the Constitution of India and under various International relating to human rights in general and treaties for disabled persons in particular, to protect the rights of the disabled persons.”

2. In National Federation for Blinds, U.P. Branch V. State of U.P. (AIR 2000 All 258), while stressing on the need for integration of the disabled people in the society, the Court held that “Problems on disability is a mere syndrome, the root causes are inherent in mass poverty, social segregation and illiteracy. The Court further held that the only permanent solution of disability problem, which a handicapped person faces, could be their social and economic integration and proper placement which will enable them to stand on their own with dignity and decency.”
3. In Jeeja Ghosh V. Union of India the Hon“ble Supreme Court held that the disabled persons are viewed as abnormal, deserving of pity, and not as individuals who are entitled to enjoy the same opportunities to live a full and satisfying life as other members of society. This resulted in marginalizing the disabled persons and their exclusion both from the mainstream of the society and enjoyment of their fundamental rights and freedoms. Disability tends to be couched within a medical and welfare framework, identifying people with disabilities as ill, different from their non-disabled peers, and in need of care. Because the emphasis is on the medical needs of people with disabilities, there is a corresponding neglect of their wider social needs, which has resulted in severe isolation for people with disabilities and their families. The Supreme Court further held that there should be a full recognition of the fact that persons with disability are integral part of the community, equal in dignity and entitled to enjoy the same human rights and freedoms as others.

4. In Pramod Arora v. Hon^{ble} Lt. Governor of Delhi and Ors the Hon^{ble} High Court of Delhi while emphasizing the significance of Article 14 of Constitution of India read with the Disability reads held that the emergence of the disability rights movement in several parts of the world, and location of the needs of persons (and children) with disabilities in the discourse within the larger canvass of civil rights, along with gender, minority groups and other marginalized sections of societies, is a move away from the present, paternalistic model of disability rights. In the model known and practiced within country, disability rights are viewed from a medical or charity perspective, where disability is a handicap one is born with. Therefore, in the interest of providing an inclusive perspective to the people at large, it is necessary that the GST Council revises the proposed tax levels for Goods and Commodities used by the Persons with Disability.
5. In Mrs. Valsamma paul v. Cochin University & Ors. (1996) the Hon^{ble} Apex Court held that the Constitution thoughts its Preamble, Fundamental Rights and Directive Principle created a Secular State based on the Principle of equality and non-discrimination, striking a balance between the rights of the individuals and the duty and commitment of the State to establish an egalitarian social order. The emphasis, therefore, is on a citizen to improve excellence and equal status and dignity of person with the advancement of human rights and constitutional philosophy of social and economic democracy in a democratic polity to all the citizens on equal footing. Therefore, for the purpose of achieving dreams dreamt by the Drafters of Our Constitution it is essential that this Government, re-examines the present GST levied on Good and Commodities required by Persons with Disability, only then will we be empowered enough to achieve an egalitarian society.

6. In State Bank of Patiala & Ors v. Vinesh Kumar Bhasin (2010) the Hon^{ble} Supreme Court while upholding the constitution validity of provisions of the Person with Disabilities Act, 1995 held that a certain affirmative actions is required to provide Persons with Disability, a level plying field which so that they can have adequate opportunities in matters of education and employment.
7. In Suchita Srivastava v. Chandigarh administration the Hon^{ble} Supreme Court held that since India has ratified the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) on October 1, 2007 its contents would be binding on our legal system.

8. The Hon“ble Supreme Court in Mangal Singh and Ors v. Shrimati Rattno & Anr (1967 3 SCR 454) held that “It is seen that if after the Constitution came into force the right to equality and dignity oof person enshrined in the Preamble of the Constitution, Fundamental Rights and Directive Principles which are a Trinity intended to remove discrimination or disability on grounds only of social status or gender, removed the pre-existing impediments that stood in the way of female or weaker segments or the society”

My objective of sending this letter to your Ministry stems from my bonafide belief that this Government in particular, is genuinely concerned about not only protecting the Constitutionally guaranteed rights of those who are disabled but even beyond that, is willing to work for the actual upliftment of those who are restricted in their movement due to genetic or other reasons.

I am also reminded of the guarantee under Article 15 of our Constitution which prohibits discrimination on grounds of religion, race, caste, sex or place of birth. Although I am no Constitutional expert, but I do believe that the meaning of the term „place of birth“ must necessarily include circumstances off one“s birth“ as well, since those who are born with a disability or even those who by way of some unfortunate incident become disabled, are in effect born again. In my view, therefore, the State must at the very least remove barriers which have the effect of further disabling those who are already disabled.

I trust that you will take my suggestions in the right spirit and as an expression of hope, from someone who shares our dear Prime Minister's vision for an inclusive and just Bharat.

I hope you will consider my plea on behalf of the entire disabled community of India, and waive all taxes which directly affect the disabled community. I am happy to make myself available for a meeting, should your department require that.

Yours Sincerely,

Nipun Malhotra

Non-refundable tax credits

Non-refundable tax credits are amounts that reduce the income tax you may have to pay.

Disability tax credit

A person with a severe and prolonged impairment in physical or mental functions may be eligible for the disability tax credit (DTC). Once they are eligible for the DTC, the disability amount could be claimed on the return.

Being eligible for the DTC can allow you to claim certain deductions, credits, and benefits, which are mentioned in this guide.

Definitions and criteria

The following definitions and criteria are used for the DTC. They will help you understand eligibility for the credit and how to apply.

Basic activities of daily living – The basic activities of daily living are:

- speaking;
- hearing;
- walking;
- eliminating (bowel and bladder functions);
- feeding;
- dressing; and
- mental functions necessary for everyday life.

Effects of impairment – The effects of impairment must be such that, even with therapy and the use of appropriate devices and medication, you are restricted at least 90% of the time.

Notes

For a patient with a walking impairment, the medical practitioner might state the number of hours spent in bed or in a wheelchair each day because of the impairment.

For a patient with an impairment in mental functions necessary for everyday life, the medical practitioner might describe the degree to which his or her patient needs support and supervision.

Inordinate amount of time – This is a clinical judgment made by a medical practitioner who observes a recognizable difference in the time it takes a person to do an activity. Usually, this equals three times the average time needed to complete the activity by a person who does not have the impairment.

Life-sustaining therapy – You must meet both of the following criteria:

- the therapy is needed to support a vital function, even if it eases the symptoms; and
- the therapy is needed at least 3 times per week, for an average of at least 14 hours per week.

You must dedicate time for the therapy – that is, you have to take time away from your normal, everyday activities to receive it. It includes the time you need to set up a portable device.

If your therapy requires a regular dosage of medication that needs to be adjusted daily, the time spent on activities directly related to determining the dosage and administering the medication can be counted in the 14 hours per week requirement. For example:

- checking blood glucose levels;
- preparing and administering the insulin;
- calibrating necessary equipment;
- testing ketones; or
- keeping a log book of blood glucose levels.

If a child cannot do the activities related to the therapy because of his or her age, the time spent by the child's primary caregivers to do and supervise these activities can be counted in the 14 hours per week requirement. For example, for a child with Type 1 diabetes, supervision includes:

- having to wake the child at night to test his or her blood glucose level;
- checking the child to decide if more blood glucose testing is needed (during or after physical activity); or
- other supervisory activities that can reasonably be considered necessary to adjust the dosage of insulin.

However, some activities do not count in the 14 hours per week requirement, such as:

- the time a portable or implanted device takes to deliver the therapy (such as an insulin pump, a CPAP machine, or a pacemaker);
- activities related to dietary restrictions or regimes, even when these activities are a factor in determining the daily dosage of medication (such as carbohydrate calculation);
- activities related to exercising, even when these activities are a factor in determining the daily dosage of medication;
- travel time to receive the therapy;
- going to medical appointments (other than appointments where the therapy is received);
- buying medication; or
- recuperation after therapy.

Markedly restricted – You are markedly restricted if you are unable or it takes you an inordinate amount of time to do one or more of the basic activities of daily living, even with therapy (other than therapy to support a vital function) and the use of appropriate devices and medication. This restriction must be present all or substantially all of the time (at least 90% of the time).

Medical practitioner – For the DTC, the medical practitioners who can certify an impairment are:

- medical doctors;
- NURSERPRACTITIONERSUNDER PROPOSEDRCHANGES
- optometrists;
- audiologists;
- occupational therapists;
- physiotherapists;
- psychologists; and
- speech-language pathologists.

Prolonged – An impairment is prolonged if:

- it has lasted for a continuous period of at least 12 months; or
- is expected to last for a continuous period of at least 12 months.

Significantly restricted – This means that although you do not quite meet the criteria for markedly restricted, your vision or ability to do a basic activity of daily living is still greatly restricted all or substantially all of the time (at least 90% of the time).

Who is eligible for the DTC?

For you to be eligible for the DTC, a medical practitioner must certify that you have a severe and prolonged impairment in physical or mental functions. The medical practitioner also needs to describe the effects of the person's impairment. Eligibility for the DTC is based on the effects of the impairment, not on the medical condition itself.

If you receive Canada Pension Plan or Quebec Pension Plan disability benefits, workers' compensation benefits, or other types of disability or insurance benefits, it does not necessarily mean you are eligible for the DTC. These programs have other purposes and different criteria, such as an individual's inability to work.

You can fill out the self-assessment questionnaire on the next page to find out if you may be eligible. This questionnaire does not replace Form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate.

Note

Your answers may show that you are not eligible for the DTC. However, you can still send an application.

Self-assessment questionnaire

1. Has your impairment in physical or mental functions lasted, or is it expected to last, for a continuous period of at least 12 months? If you answered yes, answer questions 2 to 5 below. If you answered no, you are not eligible for the DTC. To claim the disability amount, the impairment has to be prolonged (defined on page 7).	Yes ...	No ...
2. Are you blind?	Yes ...	No ...
3. Do you receive life-sustaining therapy (defined on page 6)?	Yes ...	No ...
4. Do the effects of your impairment cause you to be markedly restricted (defined on page 7) at least 90% of the time in one or more of the following basic activities of daily living, even with the appropriate therapy, medication, and devices? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Speaking <input type="checkbox"/> Hearing <input type="checkbox"/> Walking <input type="checkbox"/> Eliminating (bowel or bladder functions) <input type="checkbox"/> Feeding <input type="checkbox"/> Dressing <input type="checkbox"/> Mental functions necessary for everyday life 	Yes ... No ...
5. Do you meet all the following conditions? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <input type="checkbox"/> Because of the impairment, you are significantly restricted (defined on page 7) in two or more of the basic activities of daily living, or you are significantly restricted in vision and one or more of the basic activities of daily living listed in question 4, even with appropriate therapy (other than therapy to support a vital function), medication, and devices. <input type="checkbox"/> These significant restrictions exist together at least 90% of the time. <input type="checkbox"/> The cumulative effect of these significant restrictions is equal to being markedly restricted in one basic activity of daily living. 	Yes ...	No ...

If you answered yes to question 1 and to any one of questions 2 to 5, you may be eligible for the DTC.

If you answered no to all of questions 2 to 5, you are not eligible for the DTC. To be eligible for the DTC, you have to answer yes to at least one of these questions.

How do you apply for the DTC?

To apply for the DTC, you have to send Form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate.

Note

You do not have to send a new Form T2201 if we already approved your application. However, you have to send a new form if the previous period of approval has ended or if we tell you that we need one.

To help you apply, here are three steps to follow.

Step 1 – Fill out Part A of Form T2201

Fill out and sign the sections of Part A that apply.

Section 1 – Enter information about the person with the disability.

Section 1 – Information about the person with the disability
First name and initial		Last name		Social insurance number
Mailing address (Apt No – Street No Street name, PO Box, RR)
City		Province or territory	Postal code	Date of birth:	Year
					Month	Day

Section 2 – If you want to transfer the disability amount from your spouse or common-law partner, or dependant, fill out this section.

Section 2 – Information about the person claiming the disability amount (if different from above)
First name and initial		Last name		Social insurance number
The person with the disability is: <input type="checkbox"/> my spouse/common-law partner <input type="checkbox"/> my dependant (specify): _____
Answer the following questions for all of the years that you are claiming the disability amount for the person with the disability.
1. Does the person with the disability live with you?			Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/>
If yes , for which year(s)? _____
2. If you answered no to Question 1, does the person with the disability regularly and consistently depend on you for one or more of the basic necessities of life such as food, shelter, or clothing?			Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/>
If yes , for which year(s)? _____
Give details about the regular and consistent support you provide for food, shelter or clothing to the person with the disability (if you need more space, attach a separate sheet of paper). We may ask you to provide receipts or other documents to support your request.

You may be able to transfer the disability amount that the person with the disability may not need to reduce his or her tax. To transfer all or part of the disability amount, one of the following criteria needs to be met:

- the person with the disability lives with you; or
- you support the person with the disability by providing food, shelter, or clothing on a regular and consistent basis.

Section 3 – Fill out this section only if you want to adjust your return(s) to claim the disability amount for:

- yourself; or
- your dependant under the age of 18.

Section 3 – Adjust your income tax and benefit return
Once eligibility is approved, the CRA can adjust your returns for all applicable years to include the disability amount for yourself or your dependant under the age of 18 . For more information, see Guide RC4064, Disability-Related Information .
<input type="checkbox"/> Yes, I want the CRA to adjust my returns, if possible. <input type="checkbox"/> No, I do not want an adjustment.

After the application is approved, we will automatically adjust your return(s). We will include the federal and provincial disability amounts for all years that apply (except for residents of Quebec who have to file a separate provincial return).

You can send Form T1-ADJ, T1 Adjustment Request, with the Form T2201 if you need us to adjust a tax year for one of the following reasons:

- you are claiming the disability amount for a dependant 18 or older;
- you are claiming the disability amount for your spouse or common-law partner;
- the disability amount needs to be divided between two or more supporting persons; or
- you need any other change that is not mentioned above.

You can also send a letter with the details of your request with Form T2201. If a representative is acting for you, you must send Form T1013, Authorizing or Cancelling a Representative, or a signed letter authorizing your representative to make the request.

Section 4 – The person with the disability or their legal representative has to sign this section.

Section 4 – Authorization
As the person with the disability or their legal representative , I authorize the following actions:
• Medical practitioner(s) can give information to the CRA from their medical records or discuss the information on this form.
• The CRA can adjust my returns, as applicable, if the "Yes" box has been ticked in section 3.
Sign here: _____	Telephone _____	Year _____	Month _____ Day _____

This signature authorizes the medical practitioner to give or discuss the information needed so we can make a decision on eligibility. It also authorizes the CRA to adjust your returns, as applicable, if the "Yes" box has been ticked in section 3.

Step 2 – Ask a medical practitioner to certify Part B of Form T2201

You must take Form T2201 to a medical practitioner who can certify that you have a severe and prolonged impairment in physical or mental functions.

You are responsible for any fees that the medical practitioner charges to fill out the form. You may be able to claim these fees as medical expenses on line 330 or line 331 of Schedule 1. For more information on medical expenses you can claim, see Guide RC4065, Medical Expenses.

The table on the next page shows the type of medical practitioner who can certify each category. Also, the table gives examples and clarifications for each category.

What happens after Form T2201 is sent?

All applications are reviewed before we allow or deny the credit. Our decision is based on the information given by the medical practitioner. If we need more information, we may contact you or the medical practitioner.

If we ask you to send supporting documents or receipts, you may do so by using My Account at cra.gc.ca/myaccount. You will receive a letter containing a reference number and instructions on how to proceed.

After we make a decision, we will mail you a notice of determination.

The application is approved

The notice of determination will show which year(s) you are eligible for the DTC. The notice of determination may also include information about other programs that depend on eligibility for the DTC. You do not need to send a new Form T2201 each year, unless we tell you that we need one.

You can view your DTC information in My Account.

You should tell us if your medical condition improves and you no longer meet the criteria for the DTC.

The application is denied

The notice of determination will explain why the application was denied. Check your copy of Form T2201 against the reason(s) given. We make our decision based on the information given by the medical practitioner.

If you disagree with our decision, you can write to your tax centre and ask them to review your application. You must include any relevant medical information that you have not already sent, such as medical reports or a letter from a medical practitioner who is familiar with your situation. This information should describe how the impairment affects the activities of daily living.

You can also formally object to our decision. The time limit for filing an objection is no later than 90 days after we mail the notice of determination. For more information, see Brochure P148, Resolving your dispute: Objection and appeal rights under the Income Tax Act.

How do you claim the disability amount?

Disability amount for self (line 316)

If you are eligible for the DTC, you can claim the disability amount on your return.

If you were 18 years of age or older at the end of 2016, claim the federal disability amount of $8,001 on line 316 of Schedule 1.

If you or anyone else paid for attendant care, or care in a facility, special rules may apply. For more information, see Guide RC4065, Medical Expenses.

Supplement for persons under 18 – If you qualify for the disability amount and were under 18 years of age at the end of the year, you can claim up to an additional $4,667. This supplement may be reduced if, in 2016:

- someone claimed child care expenses for you on line 214 of their return or attendant care expenses for you on line 330 or 331 of Schedule 1; or
- you claimed attendant care expenses on line 215 of your return or on line 330 of Schedule 1.

For more information, see line 316 in the General Income Tax and Benefit Guide.

Disability amount transferred from a dependant (line 318)

You may be able to claim all or part of your dependant's (other than your spouse's or common-law partner's) disability amount if he or she:

- is eligible for the DTC;
- was resident in Canada at any time in 2016; and
- was dependent on you for all or some of the basic necessities of life (food, shelter, and clothing).

In addition, one of the following situations has to apply:

- You claimed an amount on line 305 of Schedule 1 for that dependant, or you could have if you did not have a spouse or common-law partner and if the dependant did not have any income.
- The dependant was your or your spouse's or common-law partner's parent, grandparent, child, grandchild, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, nephew, or niece, and you claimed an amount on line 306 or 315 of Schedule 1 for that dependant or you could have if he or she had no income and had been 18 years of age or older in 2016.

You cannot claim the unused part of the disability amount if the spouse or common-law partner of the person with a disability is already claiming:

- the disability amount on line 326 of Schedule 1; or
- any other non-refundable tax credit (other than medical expenses) for the person with a disability.

If you or anyone else paid for attendant care or for care in a facility, special rules may apply. For more information, see Guide RC4065, Medical Expenses.

Do you pay child support? – You cannot claim the disability amount transferred from a dependant for a child for whom you had to pay child support. If you were separated from your spouse or common-law partner for only part of the year because of a breakdown in your relationship, special rules apply.

Did you and another person support the same dependant? – You can split the claim for that dependant. The total of your claim and the other person's claim cannot be more than the maximum amount for that dependant.

You may also be able to transfer an amount for a supplement if your dependant was:

- under 18 years of age at the end of the year;
- and eligible for the DTC.

For more information, see line 318 in the General Income Tax and Benefit Guide.

Amount for an eligible dependant (line 305)

The maximum amount for 2016 that you can claim on line 305 of Schedule 1 is $11,474. If your dependant has an impairment in physical or mental functions, you may also claim the family caregiver amount (see page 18).

Who is eligible?

You may be able to claim this amount if, at any time in the year, you met all of the following conditions at once:

- You did not have a spouse or common-law partner or, if you did, you were not living with, supporting, or being supported by that person.
- You supported a dependant in 2016.
- You lived with the dependant (in most cases in Canada) in a home you maintained. You cannot claim this amount for a person who was only visiting you.

In addition, at the time you met the above conditions, the dependant must have been either:

- your parent or grandparent by blood, marriage, common-law partnership, or adoption; or
- your child, grandchild, brother, or sister, by blood, marriage, common-law partnership, or adoption and under 18 years of age, or has an impairment in physical or mental functions.

Restrictions and special rules

A household is allowed only one claim on line 305, even if there is more than one dependant in the household.

If you or someone else claims this amount for a dependant, it may affect other claims being made. For more information, see “Restrictions on certain amounts that you claim together” on page 25.

Do you pay child support? – Generally, you cannot claim an amount for an eligible dependant for whom you had to pay child support. Special rules may apply.

For more information, see line 305 in the General Income Tax and Benefit Guide.

You can claim an amount for each of your or your spouse's or common-law partner's dependent children or grandchildren only if that person:

- has an impairment in physical or mental functions; and
- was born in 1998 or earlier.

You can also claim an amount for each dependant if that person meets all of the following conditions. The person must be:

- your or your spouse's or common-law partner's parent, grandparent, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, nephew, or niece;
- born in 1998 or earlier and have an impairment in physical or mental functions;
- dependent on you, or on you and others, for support; and
- a resident of Canada at any time in the year. You cannot claim this amount for a person who was only visiting you.

A parent includes someone on whom you were completely dependent and who had custody and control of you when you were under 19 years of age.

A child can include someone older than you who has become completely dependent on you for support and over whom you have custody and control.

Restrictions and special rules

Do you pay child support? – You cannot claim an amount for infirm dependants age 18 or older or for a child for whom you had to pay child support. If you were separated from your spouse or common-law partner for only part of the year because of a breakdown in your relationship, special rules apply.

Did you and another person support the same dependant? – You can split the claim for that dependant. The total of your claim and the other person's claim cannot be more than the maximum amount for that dependant.

To find out which amounts you can claim together, see "Restrictions on certain amounts that you claim together" on page 25.

For more information, see line 306 in the General Income Tax and Benefit Guide.

- your or your spouse's or common-law partner's parent, grandparent, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, nephew, or niece who was resident in Canada. You cannot claim this amount for a person who was only visiting you.

In addition, each dependant must meet all of the following conditions. The person must have:

- been 18 years of age or older at the time he or she lived with you;
- had a net income in 2016 (line 236 of his or her return, or the amount it would be if he or she filed a return) of less than $20,607 ($22,728 if the dependant is eligible for the family caregiver amount (see below); and
- been dependent on you due to an impairment in physical or mental functions or, if he or she is your or your spouse's or common-law partner's parent or grandparent, born in 1951 or earlier.

Restrictions and special rules

Family caregiver amount

What is the family caregiver amount?

The family caregiver amount (FCA) is to help caregivers with the expenses involved with taking care of certain dependants.

If you have a spouse or common-law partner or a dependant with an impairment in physical or mental functions, you may be eligible to claim $2,121 on line 367 of Schedule 1 or an additional $2,121 for one or more of the following:

- spouse or common-law partner amount (line 303 of Schedule 1);
- amount for an eligible dependant (line 305 of Schedule 1); and
- caregiver amount (line 315 of Schedule 1).

Notes

The maximum amount for infirm dependants age 18 or older (line 306) includes the additional amount of $2,121 for the FCA.

You may be able to claim the FCA for more than one eligible dependant.

Who is eligible?

Family caregiver amount (line 303, 305, or 315)

You can claim the family caregiver amount on line 303, 305, or 315 if your dependant is:

- a person 18 years of age or older; and
- dependent on you because of an impairment in physical or mental functions.

Note

If you are claiming an amount for an eligible dependant (line 305) under 18 years of age, you must claim the family caregiver amount on line 367.

For more information, see “Family caregiver amount (FCA)” in the General Income Tax and Benefit Guide.

Family caregiver amount for infirm children under 18 years of age (line 367)

Whether you have a spouse or common-law partner or not, you may be able to claim the family caregiver amount on line 367 of Schedule 1 if your dependant:

- is your or your spouse’s or common-law partner’s child;
- is under 18 years of age at the end of the year; and
- has an impairment in physical or mental functions.

You or your spouse or common-law partner can claim this amount for all eligible children separately, but the amount can only be claimed once for each child.

The full amount can be claimed in the year of the child’s birth, death, or adoption.

For more information, see line 367 in the General Income Tax and Benefit Guide.

If your spouse or common-law partner did not need the whole amount to reduce his or her federal tax to zero, you may be able to transfer all or part of the unused amount to your return. For more information, see line 326 in the General Income Tax and Benefit Guide.

What supporting documents do you need?

We may ask you to send a signed statement from a medical practitioner. The statement should show:

- when the impairment began; and
- what its duration is expected to be.

For children under 18 years of age, the statement should also show that the child is, and will likely continue to be, dependent on others for a long and continuous period because of an impairment in physical or mental functions. “Dependent on others” means they need much more help for their personal needs and care compared to children of the same age.

Notes

You do not need a signed statement from a medical practitioner if we already have an approved Form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate, for the specified period.

Many professionals are considered medical practitioners. To view the list of professionals who can give a signed statement, go to cra.gc.ca/medicalpractitioners.

What are the maximum amounts you can claim?

The table below shows the maximum amounts you can claim for non-refundable tax credits. It also shows the maximum amounts you can claim if you are eligible for the family caregiver amount.

Non-refundable tax credit	Maximum base amount	Maximum credit including the family caregiver amount
Spouse or common-law partner amount (line 303)	$11,474	$13,595
Amount for an eligible dependant (line 305)	$11,474	$13,595
Amount for infirm dependant age 18 or older (line 306)	N/A	$6,788
Caregiver amount (line 315)	$4,667	$6,788
Family caregiver amount for infirm children under 18 years of age (line 367)	N/A	$2,121

Example 1

Abdul's wife, Amal, has a physical impairment. Abdul has been taking time off from work to take her to appointments and to help with her personal needs. Amal's doctor certified in writing that she is dependent on her husband for her personal needs because of her impairment. Abdul can claim the spouse or common-law partner amount on line 303 of his Schedule 1. On the same line, he can also claim $2,121 for the family caregiver amount.

Example 2

Mike's child, Paul, age 10, has an impairment. Paul is eligible for the disability tax credit (DTC). Because of his impairment, Paul requires significant help from his father for his personal needs. Since Paul is eligible for the DTC, Mike does not need to send a signed statement from a medical practitioner.

Mike, who is separated, claims the amount for an eligible dependant on line 305 of his Schedule 1 for Paul. He can also claim the family caregiver amount of $2,121 on line 367.

Example 3

Alexandra, age 75, lives with her son, Shawn, and is dependent on him. Shawn can claim the caregiver amount on line 315 of his Schedule 1. He can also claim the family caregiver amount on the same line.

Example 4

Nora is the primary caregiver for her husband's daughter, Anja. Anja has an impairment in mental functions. She is 16 years old and lives with Nora and her husband. Nora can claim $2,121 for the family caregiver amount for infirm children under 18 years of age on line 367 of her Schedule 1.

Since Anja is not eligible for the DTC, Nora needs a signed statement from a medical practitioner to certify Anja's impairment.

For more information on how to claim the family caregiver amount on your return, see the General Income Tax and Benefit Guide.

Textbook amount – You can claim this amount only if you can claim the education amount. The following are the amounts you can claim:

- $65 for each month you qualify for the full-time education amount; and
- $20 for each month you qualify for the part-time education amount.

You must claim your tuition, education, and textbook amounts first on your own return, even if someone else paid your fees. You may be able to transfer all or some of the unused part of these amounts to your spouse or common-law partner, or to your or your spouse's or common-law partner's parent or grandparent.

You can carry forward and claim in a future year the part of your tuition, education, and textbook amounts you cannot use and do not transfer for the year. Any amount carried forward cannot be transferred to anyone else.

For more information about eligible tuition fees, the education amount, and the textbook amount, see Pamphlet P105, Students and Income Tax, or line 323 in the General Income Tax and Benefit Guide.

Persons with disabilities – You do not have to be a first-time home buyer if:

- you are eligible for the disability tax credit (DTC); or
- you bought the home for the benefit of a related person who is eligible for the DTC.

However, the purchase must be to allow the person with the disability to live in a home that is more accessible or better suited to his or her needs.

For the home buyers' amount, a person with a disability is an individual for whom we have approved a Form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate, for the year in which the home was bought.

Other tax measures

Child care expenses (line 214)

You or your spouse or common-law partner may have paid someone to look after your child who, at some time in 2016, was under 16 years of age or had an impairment in physical or mental functions.

Generally, only the spouse or common-law partner with the lower net income (even if it is zero) can claim these expenses, but only if the expenses were paid so one of you could be employed, carry on a business, go to school, or conduct research in 2016.

If the person with the lower net income was not capable of caring for children because of an impairment in physical or mental functions, the spouse or common-law partner with the higher net income may be able to claim these expenses.

You can deduct some or all of these expenses on line 214 of your return. For more information, and to make your claim, see Form T778, Child Care Expenses Deduction for 2016.

- ! do research for which you received a grant.

Only the person with the disability can claim this deduction.

If you lived outside Canada for part or all of the year and we consider you to be a factual or deemed resident of Canada, you can claim the expenses that you paid to a non-resident person for services provided outside of Canada.

Which expenses can you claim?

You can claim the amount you paid for the following expenses:

Attendant care services provided in Canada and used by a person with an impairment in physical or mental functions. You cannot claim amounts you paid for attendant care services provided by your spouse or common-law partner, or to someone under 18 years of age.

You may claim full-time attendant care services if:

- ! you are eligible for the disability tax credit (DTC); or
- ! a medical practitioner certifies in writing that these services are necessary and that your impairment is likely to be indefinite.

You may claim part-time attendant care services only if you are eligible for the DTC.

Child disability benefit

If you get the Canada child benefit (CCB) for a child who is eligible for the disability tax credit (DTC), you may be entitled to get the child disability benefit (CDB). The CDB is a supplement to the CCB. A child is eligible for the DTC when we have approved Form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate, for that child.

The CDB is based on family net income and gives up to $227.50 per eligible child each month. The CDB amount is included in the CCB payment.

You do not need to make a separate application to get the CDB. It will be calculated automatically for the current and two previous benefit years for each child who qualifies and is under 18 years of age. If you want to get a retroactive payment for the CDB beyond these benefit years, send a letter to your tax centre (see page 13).

For more information, go to cra.gc.ca/benefits or call 1-800-387-1193.

Home buyers' plan

If you are buying or building a qualifying home for a person with a disability, you may be able to take part in the home buyers' plan. This program allows you to withdraw up to $25,000 in a calendar year from your registered retirement savings plans. For more information, go to cra.gc.ca/hbp.

Registered disability savings plan

A registered disability savings plan is intended to help parents and others save for the long-term financial security of a person who is eligible for the disability tax credit.

For more information, go to cra.gc.ca/rdsp or see Information Sheet RC4460, Registered Disability Savings Plan.

Customs information

The Customs Tariff allows the duty-free entry of goods (and the articles and materials used in those goods) that are specifically designed for persons with disabilities.

If you buy such goods while abroad, you will have to declare them when they enter Canada. The goods would have to be classified under a tariff item in Chapters 1 to 97. If the goods you buy are designed for persons with disabilities, specify tariff item No. 9979.00.00 when you make your customs declaration so you do not have to pay the duty.

If you have questions about goods you are planning to import, visit the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) website at cbsa.gc.ca, call 1-800-461-9999, or contact your nearest CBSA office.

Staff at CBSA offices can explain any special rules ahead of time, so that your goods clear customs quickly.

For CBSA addresses and telephone numbers, see the CBSA website or the listings in the government section of your telephone book.

Disability-related employment benefits

Employment benefits or allowances you received that relate to your disability, such as attendant services and transportation costs, may not be taxable. For more information, see “Disability-related employment benefits” in Chapter 3 of Guide T4130, Employers’ Guide, Taxable Benefits and Allowances.

Excise tax information

If you have a permanent mobility impairment and cannot safely use public transportation, you can ask for a refund of part of the federal excise tax on the gasoline you buy. A qualified medical practitioner must certify the impairment.

To ask for a refund, send Form XE8, Application for Refund of Federal Excise Tax on Gasoline. For more information, call 1-877-432-5472.

GST/HST information

In this section, we describe some of the goods and services used by persons with disabilities that are exempt supplies or zero-rated supplies for purposes of the goods and services tax/harmonized sales tax (GST/HST). This means you will not pay GST/HST on these goods and services.

If you paid GST/HST in error, you can ask the supplier for a refund or credit instead of asking for a rebate from the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA).

If the supplier gives you a refund or credit, you cannot get a rebate from the CRA.

If you cannot get a refund or credit from the supplier (for example, if the supplier refuses to refund the amount or goes out of business), you can ask the CRA for a rebate by sending Form GST189, General Application for Rebate of GST/HST.

Special rules apply for specially equipped motor vehicles (see page 33).

For more information, call 1-800-959-5525.

Medical and disability-related services

Health care services

You do not have to pay GST/HST for certain health care services. For example, you do not have to pay GST/HST on physiotherapy services provided to you by a physiotherapist.

For more information, see Excise and GST/HST News, no. 80 and no. 91.

Home care services

You do not have to pay GST/HST for home care services provided in your place of residence if they are publicly subsidized or funded.

Home care services are household or personal care services provided to you in your home that are required because of your age, infirmity, or disability. These household services include help to maintain your home, such as cleaning, laundering, meal preparation, and child care. Personal care services include help with personal care such as bathing, feeding, dressing and taking medication.

If you receive exempt home care services, any extra home care services you receive will also be exempt.

For more information, see the GST/HST Info Sheet GI-166, Application of the GST/HST to Home Care Services.

Care and supervision services

You do not have to pay GST/HST for services of providing care and supervision to a person who is limited in taking care of himself or herself because of an impairment in physical or mental functions.

This exemption applies to services, such as daytime care when the primary caregiver is absent, provided mainly in the supplier's establishment.

Also, you do not have to pay GST/HST for services of providing care, supervision, and a place of residence to a person with a disability, in an establishment run by the supplier for the purpose of providing such services (for example, care in a group home).

Home-delivered meals

A public sector body such as a charity, non-profit organization, or government may run a program to provide prepared meals to seniors or persons with disabilities in their home. You do not have to pay GST/HST when you get food and beverages under these programs.

Recreational programs

You do not have to pay GST/HST for recreational programs offered by a public sector body that are mainly for persons with disabilities. Recreational programs may include:

- board and lodging at recreational camps or similar places; or
- recreational services, including those continually offered at a community centre.

For more information, see GST/HST Info Sheet GI-037, Children's Camps Operated by Public Sector Bodies.

Training services

You do not have to pay GST/HST for training services to help a person with a disability cope with his or her disorder or disability. Also, you do not have to pay GST/HST for the service of designing the training plans.

For more information, see GST/HST Info Sheets GI-112, Specially Designed Training to Assist Individuals with a Disorder or Disability, and GI-113, Specially Designed Training to Assist Individuals with Autism.

Hospital parking for patients and visitors

You may not have to pay GST/HST for parking provided by public hospitals. The parking has to be intended for patients and visitors.

For more information, see Excise and GST/HST News, no. 91.

Medical devices and supplies

You do not have to pay GST/HST on certain medical devices and supplies (because they are taxable at 0%), including the following:

- wheelchairs, wheelchair lifts, walkers, and similar aids to locomotion that are specially designed for persons with disabilities;
- hearing aids;
- eyeglasses or contact lenses – prescription by an eye care professional needed;
- electronic eyewear designed to correct a vision impairment – prescription by a medical doctor or optometrist needed;
- selector control devices specially designed to allow persons with disabilities to select, switch on, or control household, industrial, or office equipment;
- toilet seats, bath seats, shower seats or commode chairs specially designed for persons with disabilities;
- patient lifts specially designed to move persons with disabilities;
- canes or crutches specially designed for persons with disabilities;
- clothing specially designed for persons with disabilities – prescription needed;
- incontinence products specially designed for persons with disabilities;
- intermittent urinary catheters for persons with disabilities (paid after March 22, 2016) – prescription needed;
- auxiliary driving controls designed to allow persons with disabilities to drive the vehicle;
- services of modifying a motor vehicle to adapt it for transporting persons using a wheelchair;
- animals that are or will be trained to help persons with disabilities, including the service of training these persons to use such animals. The animal and the service has to be supplied by an organization that provides specially trained animals;
- blood coagulation monitors or meters including certain disposable peripherals; and
- insulin pens and insulin pen needles (paid after March 22, 2016).

Note

For the GST/HST, a medical doctor, an occupational therapist, a physiotherapist and a registered nurse can give a prescription.

Specially equipped motor vehicles

If you buy from a dealer a new or used qualifying motor vehicle that is already equipped with either auxiliary driving controls to allow a person with a disability to drive the vehicle, or with a device designed to allow a wheelchair to be placed in the vehicle without having to collapse the wheelchair, GST/HST applies to the purchase price of the vehicle.

Generally, you can get a rebate for the GST/HST paid on the part of the purchase price that relates to modifying the qualifying vehicle and installing these devices, either from the supplier or by sending a Form GST518, GST/HST Specially Equipped Motor Vehicle Rebate Application.

The rebate is also available if you paid GST/HST on modifications that were made to specially equip your vehicle outside of Canada.

The Miraculous Reduced Input Tax Credit for Financial Supplies in Australia

As in other jurisdictions, one of the key exemptions in Australia targets financial supplies. In this article, the author explains how Australia has narrowed the scope of the exemption for financial supplies and miraculously gives some businesses making financial supplies the right to deduct part of their input tax. He explains the complexities of Australia's financial-supply rules, and discusses recent judicial decisions on this topic.

1. Introduction

Australia is a latecomer to value added tax (VAT) and its broad-based consumption tax is one of the so-called "New World VATs". Not called VAT at all, the goods and services tax (GST) is an invoice-based type of VAT with relatively few exemptions. As in other jurisdictions, one of the key exemptions targets financial supplies. In this notoriously vexed area of VAT, Australia has introduced a system of narrowing the scope of the exemption and of miraculously giving some suppliers the right to deduct 7.5%¹ input tax. Perversely, the Australian GST Law calls this entitlement to deduct a "reduced input tax credit" and from this comes the title of this article because it has the effect of "reducing" the right to deduct input tax from zero (which is normal in VAT systems for such supplies) to 7.5%.

Although unusual and somewhat complex, the Australian approach has considerable merit, and it seems clear that its stated purpose of relieving the pressure in favour of self-supply has also had the effect of pacifying the major financial suppliers, which has removed the associated political pressure that might be expected from such a politically and economically powerful group.

2. Background to the Australian Exemptions

It is interesting to note that the exemptions established under the Australian GST were named in an unconventional manner which is possibly more revealing of their economic effect than the conventional VAT labels. Transactions that are called "zero rated" in other jurisdictions are labelled "GST-free" supplies in Australia to better reflect that, to the extent possible, final consumption bears no GST.² Supplies that are neither taxable nor GST free, i.e. are "exempt" in other jurisdictions, are called "input taxed" under the Australian GST system to indicate that final consumption bears the GST that was non-deductible in the process of production and distribution of the goods or services.

GST-free supplies are relieved from taxation on the grounds that they concern merit goods and services, such as medical supplies and food for human consumption. Input-taxed supplies are dominated by immovable property and financial and insurance services. The focus of this article will be on financial supplies.

3. Financial Supplies: The Problem

The problem with financial supplies is well known. It is difficult to identify the value that has been added by financial institutions for the purposes of levying VAT (GST) on the difference between the cost of the supply to the supplier and the price the supplier charges to its customers.³ Disentangling the components of the inputs and the supply is complex administratively, and likely to be costly in compliance and administration. Most jurisdictions using a traditional VAT model simply do not try, and they therefore exempt financial supplies.⁴ This approach avoids complexity, but it introduces a distortion in that it makes "self-supplies" economically advantageous for a financial supplier. Since financial suppliers cannot claim input tax in respect of inputs used for the purposes of making their exempt financial supplies, it makes sense for them to carry out activities "in house".

Aside from the so-called self-supply bias, there are other distortions and problems that have been identified as associated with "input taxing" financial supplies, such as cascading of tax, bias to non-resident suppliers, and simple revenue loss.⁵

4. The Australian Solution

When it designed the GST system, the Australian Federal Treasury was well aware of the experience of other countries in relation to these aspects of taxing financial services. In particular, the problem of the self-supply bias seems to have been high in the thinking of the designers of the Australian GST. It is very evident that the government was sensitive to risks and criticisms associated with the new tax when it was being planned in 1999: the legislation was extensively changed prior to being passed by Parliament and it was subsequently further amended.⁶ In fact, the legal rules relating to financial supplies were repealed in their entirety shortly after enactment⁷ and replaced by a more flexible set of Regulations.⁸

There are two essential elements in the Australian approach.⁹ The first element is that, under the regime for “reduced input tax credits” (RITC), financial supplies are not wholly input taxed, and the other is that the RITC regime is confined to major suppliers of financial services. By means of a de minimis threshold, minor financial suppliers are removed from input taxing entirely and small players in the GST system can claim full deduction of input tax for the GST they have incurred on inputs associated with making minor financial supplies. Those features have the effect that, strictly speaking, financial supplies are not exempt from GST.

4.1. Financial supplies

The definition of “financial supply” in Australia takes into account “... both the nature of the service constituting a financial supply, and the fact that the supplier of the service is, immediately before making the supply, either the owner of the financial supply or the creator of the financial supply.”¹⁰ Consequently, the meaning of financial supply is restricted to “interests in” supplies of financial services that are owned by the supplier or that the supplier has created. Such supplies are described by means of copious examples in the Regulations.¹¹ Examples of an interest in a financial supply owned by an entity immediately before its supply include “a share that is sold” and “rights assigned under a derivative”. Examples of an interest created in a financial supply include “a share or a bond that is issued” and “a derivative that is entered into”.¹² These examples illustrate the difference quite effectively.

However, as with other complex laws, the problem faced by GST law (and the intellectual attraction of it) is the penumbra – the supplies and actors in the making of supplies that fall within the grey area between these simple examples. The Regulations also cater for many of these instances, however, and there is a regulatory determination of “... supplies of a financial character made by entities on the periphery to transactions.”¹³ This categorization of peripheral types of supply is where the Australian rules are superior to those in other jurisdictions, where the courts are faced with the difficult task of finding a path through the penumbra and have to determine at what point the exempt character of a financial supply should start and end, especially end. As a result of the prescriptive nature of the Australian rules, issues such as that in the case of *Volker Ludwig*¹⁴ in the European Union and the string of cases before and (probably) after it could not readily arise in Australia. However, Australia has not completely eliminated the risk of litigation in such matters.

Suppliers and supplies made on the periphery of the narrow definition of financial supply are treated differently. According to the Regulations, there is a further type of supplier which is not a financial supplier but is a “financial supply facilitator”. The description of such a supplier is far from poetic, but it is clear: “a financial-supply facilitator, in relation to a supply of an interest, [in a financial supply] is an entity facilitating the supply of the interest for a financial-supply provider”.¹⁵

For clarity’s sake, the Regulations go on to build on the fundamental categorization based on whether the supply is owned or created by the supplier. A further three types of supply are identified as follows:

Reg. 40-5.09 sets out what supplies are financial supplies (subject to the usual provisos concerning consideration, supply in the course of an enterprise, etc.) in a table. Its 11 items include:

- accounts made available in the course of an authorized banking business;
- debts, credits, and letters of credit;
- charges or mortgages over property;
- annuities and allocated pensions; and
- currency or an agreement to buy or sell currency.¹⁶

The Regulations then identify what is termed an “incidental financial supply”, which is defined in Regulation 40-5.10. This is another attempt to provide clarity at the periphery and accepts that, although, strictly speaking, some supplies might not be financial supplies in their own right, they may nevertheless be incidental. A supply:

 14. Judgment of the Court of Justice of the European Union (ECJ) of 21 June 2007 in Volker Ludwig v. Finanzamt Luckenwalde, Case C-453/05, [2007] ECR I-5083. According to the ECJ, the fact that a financial adviser analyses the financial situation of clients canvassed by him with a view to obtaining credit for them does not preclude recognition of the service supplied as being exempt negotiation of credit, if, in the light of the foregoing interpretative criteria, the negotiation of credit offered by that financial adviser is considered the principal service to which the provision of financial advice is ancillary, in such a way that the latter shares the same tax treatment as the former. The fact that the financial adviser has no contractual link with any of the parties to a credit agreement to the conclusion of which he has contributed and that he does not establish direct contact with one of those parties does not preclude that adviser from providing a service of negotiation of credit which is exempt from VAT. The interpretative criteria were the fact, first, that the services rendered by the agent and the financial adviser (its subagent) were remunerated by the lenders only on the condition that the clients approached and advised by the financial adviser entered into a credit agreement, which suggests that the negotiation should be regarded as the principal service and the giving of advice as merely ancillary and second, that the negotiation of credit appeared to be the decisive service both for the borrowers and for the lenders, in so far as the activity of giving financial advice occurred only in a preliminary phase and was limited to helping the client choose, from among the various financial products, which were best adapted to his situation and to his needs.

 16. R. de la Feria and M. Walpole, see note 4, p. 22.

- ... is an incidental financial supply if:
 - it is incidental to the financial supply; and
 - it and the financial supply are supplied at or about the same time, but not for separate consideration; and
 - it is the usual practice of the entity to supply the thing, or similar things, and the financial supply together in the ordinary course of the entity's enterprise.

Finally, the Regulations close off the potential spread of the definition of "financial supply" by making it clear that certain supplies, whatever ambiguity there may be in a normal reading, are not financial supplies. Regulation 40-5.12 identifies as "non-financial supplies" items such as:

- cheque and deposit forms and books supplied to an Australian [authorized deposit-taking institution] in connection with an account mentioned in item 1 in the table in Regulation 40-5.09;
- professional services, including information and advice, in relation to a financial supply;
- debt collection services;
- trustee services;
- custodian services in relation to money, documents and other things;
- Australian currency, or the currency of another country, the market value of which exceeds its stated value as legal tender

It is clear that the Regulator has made every effort to eliminate opportunities for argument. Indeed, the Regulations go a step further and, out of an abundance of caution, provide a generous "tiebreaker" rule for the situation where a supply might, on the definitions, be both a financial supply¹⁷ and a non-financial supply.¹⁸ In such cases, it is regarded as not being a financial supply.¹⁹ It seems that little has been left to chance.

It will be apparent that the Australian approach, although bewilderingly detailed to someone coming to it afresh, is very clear in its restriction of categories of supplies regarded as financial supplies for GST purposes and is similarly restrictive of the category of providers who make them. In any remaining cases of doubt, it sets out a somewhat generous treatment as the default position. It is within this tight legislative context, designed to reduce arguments and to limit the spreading stain of a financial supply categorization, that the next two generous rules operate. The first of these rules is the de minimis threshold applicable to financial supplies.

4.2. Financial acquisitions threshold

As a result of the "financial acquisitions threshold"²⁰ (or "FAT" in finance industry jargon), businesses that do not have the making of financial supplies as their main business or as a significantly large subsidiary part of it, do not need to identify their financial supplies so as to strip out the input tax associated with that part of their business.

The FAT operates so that "... an acquisition is not treated as related to an input-taxed supply if the only reason for doing so is that it relates to making a financial supply and the entity does not exceed the financial acquisitions threshold."²¹ Since, perversely, the Australian rules contemplate that a borrowing might be a financial supply,²² the threshold has been made more generous and, therefore, more effective, by excluding from the threshold borrowings that are not entered into for the purposes of making financial supplies.²³ Without that exclusion, businesses with a lot of borrowings might be subject to the GST regime for financial supplies.

The threshold applies to input tax relating to acquisitions made in the course of making financial supplies and has the effect that an entity (meaning a legal entity or individual) is entitled to full deduction of GST on inputs relating to financial supplies, if the total input tax (in that month and the preceding 11) that relates to the supplies is less than AUD 50,000²⁴ and less than 10% of the total amount of input tax.²⁵ Thus, the threshold has two parts, both of which must be satisfied for the entitlement to full deduction of GST: both in absolute and relative terms, the input tax relating to the making of the financial supplies must have been of minor significance for 12 months (including the month in question).

The special regime for financial supplies applies if either or both thresholds are exceeded, i.e. the input tax relating to the making of the financial supplies is more than AUD 50,000 or the input tax is a significant component – namely more than 10% – of the total input tax of the entity's business for 12 months.

The result of this threshold is that the special regime for financial supplies made by businesses applies only to those entities that have a high amount of input tax associated with financial acquisitions or that have a significant proportion of their input tax attributable to their business of making financial supplies. For example, a plumber who grants loans to his customers in the form of granting credit on bills for repairs will not be drawn into the financial-supply regime merely by reason of giving credit.

One significant disadvantage of the FAT is the compliance cost associated with monitoring the entity's financial affairs in relation to the threshold.

The practical difficulty of this process is exacerbated by the fact that the threshold must be monitored not only currently and having regard to the previous 11 months²⁶ but consideration must also be given to future acquisitions and an assumption made about the recovery of input tax on financial acquisitions made during the month and the next 11 months.²⁷

These concerns partly explain the recent decision to increase the threshold. The comment has also been made that "... there are practical challenges associated with allocation and apportionment of input tax to the making of financial supplies."²⁸ The issue of apportionment associated with this aspect of the Australian financial-supply rules is one that is shared in a significant way by the rest of the businesses.

For businesses that pass the FAT, the prize in the Australian GST system is that they have access to the RITC rules and thus, although they make financial supplies that are ostensibly input taxed, they are entitled to claim a portion of the GST incurred in acquiring inputs that are subsequently used in order to make financial supplies.

4.3. Reduced input tax credits regime

Financial suppliers of sufficient scale, measured by reference to the FAT, are able to participate in the RITC system. The GST Act²⁹ contains a refinement under which "... acquisitions of a specified kind that relate to making financial supplies can give rise to an entitlement to a RITC. These are reduced credit acquisitions ["RCAs"]."³⁰ The RITC granted under this rule is 75% of the full amount of the input GST in question.³¹ The bulk of the relevant rules are to be found in the GST Regulations.

The Regulations list, in characteristically detailed tables, the items that are regarded as RCAs and have the effect that 75% of the GST charged by the financial-supply facilitators is deductible. The lists include:³²

- transaction banking and cash management services, such as opening, issuing, closing, operating, and maintaining of accounts; and performing a transaction in respect of an account by a financial-supply facilitator, including telephone banking, Internet banking, and Giro Post;
- processing services in relation to account information for account providers, including archives storage, retrieval and destruction services, statement processing and bulk mailing, etc.; and
- acquisition of transaction cards by card account providers.³³

Transactions relating to some offshore acquisitions are listed too. These include:

- providing senior management services, including corporate strategy and development, and investment strategy and performance measurement functions;
- providing support systems associated with these senior management services;
- providing human resources support services, including general advice and planning, recruitment assistance, etc.³⁴

The tables are accompanied by a detailed GST Ruling (GSTR)³⁵ of the Australian Tax Office (ATO), which expands the tables by explaining terms used in the tables, such as "processing", "clearing", "settling", "switching", etc.

The greatest risk of a self-supply of services would be likely to arise in this area of facilitation of financial supplies. Such activities, on a sufficient scale, would make it financially advantageous to banks to keep activities "in house" in order to avoid the burden of GST. The RITC rules are aimed at reducing the incentive to self-supply³⁶ and they seem to have been successful in that respect. The rules are, however, not without problems.

5. Criticisms

There are three aspects of the Australian rules worthy of consideration. These aspects are complexity and compliance costs; cascading of taxes; and revenue loss. These considerations will be discussed further below, but to place that discussion in context, it is worth considering a recent consultation on the operation of the rules and two recent judicial decisions involving GST on financial supplies. They highlight what are currently seen as the problems in this relatively new form of taxation.

5.1. Current reform efforts

In May 2009, the Australian Treasury released a consultation paper³⁷ that "... provide[d] background on the existing policy treatment of financial supplies under Australia's GST regime, along with options for achieving... [the] policy outcome [of reducing complexity and introducing more principled rules] more efficiently and with reduced compliance costs."³⁸ In response to the consultation, 15 submissions were made, 14 of them public.³⁹ The respondents represented a significant group of bodies with a detailed understanding of the issues involving the financial services industry. The overwhelming view of the respondents, some more enthusiastically than others, was that the existing financial-supply rules should be either retained or “significantly retained”,⁴⁰ albeit that several respondents suggested minor amendments.⁴¹

Other respondents⁴² argued for parity of the GST treatment on life cover or the life component of cover provided by life insurance providers and general insurance providers.

There were also some detractors: some respondents pointed out the superior outcomes of the New Zealand approach of zero rating business-to-business (B2B) financial transactions and expressed general dissatisfaction with the terms of the consultation on this topic. They considered those terms as being too narrow and focusing too much on improving the existing rules rather than opening up options for alternative approaches.⁴³

Also, the Institute of Chartered Accountants (ICAA) argued strongly for a wider and more fundamental reform and criticized the very concept of input taxing financial supplies. It saw it as fundamentally “not internationally competitive” and it submitted that “reform is necessary to relieve business consumption of financial services from tax.” As far as the ICAA is concerned:

Australia’s existing GST treatment of financial services... has not remained competitive with Singapore, New Zealand and Hong Kong. In an international context, it is also less favourable than the proposed regimes in the European Union and the Middle East.

Significantly, the ICAA alluded to problems associated with the Australian financial-supply rules that have come to light via recent court cases. It made the point that the Australian ... legislative approach of describing financial intermediation in terms of the capital flows, and not the intermediation service... has lead [sic] to a number of conceptual difficulties, interpretations and outcomes that appear to be at odds with the original policy intent. The relevant focus for determining input tax relief and other matters in the GST law is the intermediation activity.

The ICAA submitted that “... court decisions ... show that whatever the judicial outcome, the explanation for the decisions is not found in the policy of input taxation of financial intermediation but, rather, on a strict, textual interpretation of the complex legal structure of the GST financial-supply Regulations.”

5.2. Recent judicial decisions on financial supplies

The recent judicial decisions dealing with the financial-supply rules referred to by the ICAA are those in *Travelex*⁴⁴ and American Express.⁴⁵

Travelex turned on the application of a tiebreaker provision, which applies where a supply falls within both the definitions of GST-free and input-taxed supplies. In such circumstances, the supply is GST free.⁴⁶

Travelex had supplied foreign (Fijian) currency in the departure area of Sydney International Airport, which, by virtue of the labyrinthine rules,⁴⁷ was a supply of “foreign currency” and thus clearly a financial supply. In order for the tiebreaker provision to apply, it also needed to be a GST-free supply.

The supply of foreign currency would be a GST-free supply if it was:

- “a supply in relation to rights” if:
 - the rights are for use outside Australia; or
 - the supply is to an entity that is not an Australian resident and is outside Australia when the thing supplied is done.⁴⁸

The Federal Court (Mansfield J dissenting) determined that, although the supply of the currency obviously carried with it certain rights, for example vis-à-vis the holder of the notes and the Reserve Bank of Fiji, the supply was not primarily a supply of rights as contemplated by the use of the term in the legislation – it was simply a supply of currency.⁴⁹ The Federal Court’s approach was seemingly based on common sense rather than an overly technical application of the defined terms employed in the relevant legislation.

However, the High Court (Crennan and Bell JJ dissenting) disagreed. French CJ and Hayne J found that “... a sale of foreign currency is a supply in relation to the rights that attend upon ownership of that currency” and that those rights were to be used outside Australia.⁵⁰

In American Express,⁵¹ a single judge of the Federal Court had to decide whether the fees payable by defaulting holders of credit cards (or charge cards) to the issuer of the cards are consideration for a financial supply, as defined by the GST Act and GST Regulations.⁵²

The “fees” represented the “liquidated damages” and penalty interest contractually incurred by card holders when they failed to pay at least their minimum amount when their credit card balance became due. The issue was important because the manner in which input tax is apportioned for entities making supplies that are input taxed and other supplies (GST free or taxable) is based on a statutory formula⁵³ that apportions input tax by determining the revenue derived from input-taxed supplies as a proportion of total revenue. If the fees were consideration for input-taxed financial supplies, the fraction of input-taxed supplies would be higher and the proportion of input tax claimable would be lower. If the fees were not consideration for financial supplies, they would be consideration for taxable supplies and thus a greater proportion of the card issuer's input tax would be deductible.

This submission also seemed to approve of the zero rating of B2B transactions.

In his analysis of the issue, the Federal Court (Emmett J) found that there was no credit arrangement between the card holder and the card issuer – the card holder is ordinarily required to pay the balance when the card issuer issues the statement of account.⁵⁴ His Honour dismissed the Commissioner's contention that the legislative history of the provisions indicated an intention to include such fees as consideration for a financial supply.⁵⁵ His Honour also found that the arrangement between the merchant, card issuer and card holder was "a payment system", as defined in the Regulations.⁵⁶ The relevant Regulation therefore placed the arrangement outside of the closed list of financial supplies and the Federal Court upheld American Express' appeal.

The Commissioner appealed to the Full Federal Court.⁵⁷ The majority decision in the Full Federal Court was that the relevant arrangement was not excluded by reason of it being a "payment system" as described in GST Regulation 40.5-12.⁵⁸ The supply was a supply of an interest in or under a credit arrangement or right to credit which is a type of financial supply identified under GST Regulation 40.5-09.⁵⁹ If a payment system were excluded from the concept of financial supplies if it involved payments "to charge card and credit cardholders, there would be no room for the operation of this provision".

5.3. Conclusions on the cases

It is not the purpose of this article to review the two judicial decisions in great detail, but they are a useful guide to a general assessment of the operation of the financial-supply rules in Australia. As suggested by the ICAA, the decision in Travelex demonstrates a propensity to close statutory analysis or, as the ICAA put it, "on a strict, textual interpretation of the complex legal structure of the GST financial-supply Regulations". The decision of the High Court, which was subsequent to the ICAA submission, reinforced the ICAA's view. Such a close analysis is almost guaranteed by the manner in which the rules have been drafted in the Regulations. It seems that this level of detail gets one to what the rules actually cover, having regard to the terms enacted by the legislature. One might have sympathy, however, for the draftsman's approach when one considers the (with respect) surprising outcome at first instance and in the dissenting decision in the Full Federal Court in American Express. It seems that, on that occasion, the judges were not prepared to reach a more common sense outcome, preferring to reach a conclusion that seems contrary to the spirit and rationale of the legislation to the effect that all charges relating to the use of credit cards were intended to be covered by the financial-supply rules and to be input taxed.

Much the same can be said (with respect) for the High Court majority decision in Travelex, where a common sense approach to whether foreign currency is money or both money and "rights" led the Court to, perhaps understandably, recognize the existence of the rights – with disastrous implications for the operation of the GST law. Anticipating such an approach to interpretation, the draftsman may well be tempted to narrow the area for judicial discretion by tying down meanings as much as possible. So much for principle-based drafting.⁶⁰

Its decision in Travelex may have been different if the High Court had resorted to the view that GST is a "practical business tax" – a principle that seems to be sometimes invoked in Australia's growing GST case law.⁶¹ In this light, it is perhaps not the detailed manner of drafting that distinguishes the Australian rules, but the variability of interpretation of the rules, however drafted, that might be encountered when the rules are considered in the courts.

6. Compliance and Complexity

It will no doubt be evident how complex Australia's financial-supply rules are. The Regulations are lengthy and laborious, intended to leave little to chance. There must be a compliance cost associated with this complexity and, in the absence of solid research on this particular point, one can only speculate what impact it is having on the level of compliance. I have already described the rules as labyrinthine. However, they do provide certainty and, on account of the detailed nature of the rules, they tend to leave the question of apportionment of inputs to taxable and non-taxable supplies as one of the few areas of dispute.

When costs are considered, benefits should also be taken into account. It is clear that many financial-supply providers are relatively happy with the rules as they currently apply and, presumably as a result of their own cost/benefit analysis, the majority of key players in the Australian financial sector are prepared to bear the costs because they see the benefits of doing so. The explicit nature of the rules leaves the Commissioner and businesses arguing over the relatively narrow area of apportionment, rather than on the even wider issues associated with the definitions of financial supplies and supplies that are arguably associated with financial supplies. When considering the costs associated with complexity, the savings associated with reduced recourse to litigation should also be considered.

7. Cascading of Taxes

The Australian approach goes some way to reducing the effect of tax cascading by removing from the financial-supply regime some, indeed significantly large, costs of input tax. This means that the treasury is bearing some input costs through the RITC rules and these costs are not simply passed on to the customers of the financial-supply providers. In addition, many peripheral supplies, associated with financial supplies without being financial supplies, are kept within the normal GST regime and do not result in a cascade of tax disguised in pricing. It is unclear whether the 75% RITC is overly generous or not generous enough but, it is probable that the attitude of the major financial-supply representative bodies suggests it is either generous or fair. Accordingly, it seems that cascading of taxes through the lack of input tax deduction for financial supplies is not a major problem in Australia. It is interesting to note, however, the seemingly growing support for elimination of tax on B2B transactions, such as is employed in New Zealand. The fact that the zero rating of B2B financial services was mentioned in the consultation procedure (see 5.1.) probably foreshadows a more concerted demand for such a system in the future. Australian banks and financial institutions are intimately acquainted with the costs and benefits of the New Zealand approach, as the major banks in New Zealand are owned by the major Australian banks.⁶²

8. Loss of Revenue

It is worthwhile to consider whether, because of the narrow and prescriptive nature of the Australian financial-supply rules, the loss of revenue is less than it might otherwise be. Under the Australian approach, the rules have operated to closely contain the spreading stain of the exemption for financial supplies. The role of intermediaries in making financial supplies seems to have been noticed and their access to the exemption has been closely quarantined through the detailed listing in the Regulations of what is not a financial supply. Furthermore, it seems that the Australian system may have the added advantage that, should a provision be interpreted in such a way as to open up the system to revenue loss, it ought to be relatively easy to amend the rules because they are laid down by Regulations and amendments do not have to run the gamut of the full parliamentary process. In this light, one can conclude that the risks of revenue loss under the Australian system are not as great as under other possible options.

9. Conclusions

It cannot be pretended that the Australian system is perfect⁶³ and commentators have identified several problems with it. One commentator has said that the RITC rules are “littered with unjustifiable glitches and ambiguities”.⁶⁴ Others have also identified areas of potential disagreement between the ATO and the taxpayer⁶⁵ which include, for example, the vagueness of “transaction processing” as a concept on which the RITC rules are based, ambiguities associated with the concept of debt collection services on which the RITC might be claimed and, similarly, litigation services.⁶⁶ Barkoczy et al. mention some examples of activities which are likely to provide fertile areas for dispute between taxpayers and the Commissioner.⁶⁷ The cases discussed above illustrate how the courts are sometimes hard pressed in resolving these disputes and how some decisions can surprise. However, if they are an adequate indication of the pressure on the system, the results of the recent consultation procedure seem to suggest that the Australian financial sector is relatively satisfied with the GST treatment of financial supplies.

VAT rates

Businesses and charging VAT

Introduction

If you're registered, you have to charge VAT when you make taxable supplies.

What qualifies and the VAT rate you charge depends on the type of goods or services you provide.

No VAT is charged on goods or services that are:

- x exempt from VAT
- x outside the scope of the UK VAT system

This guide to goods and services and their VAT rates isn't a complete list. You can see a full list of VAT Notices for goods and services not included in this guide.

VAT rate conditions

These rates may only apply if certain conditions are met, or in particular circumstances, depending on some or all of the following:

- x who's providing or buying them
- x where they're provided
- x how they're presented for sale
- x the precise nature of the goods or services
- x whether you obtain the necessary evidence
- x whether you keep the right records
- x whether they're provided with other goods and services

Other conditions may also apply.

There are also specific VAT rules for certain trades such as builders and charities that affect how you account for VAT, how much you must pay and how much you can reclaim.

International trade

Goods exported outside the EU or sent to someone registered in another EU country are zero-rated, subject to conditions. You can read more about VAT on goods sent overseas.

Food and drink, animals, animal feed, plants and seeds

Food and drink for human consumption is usually zero-rated but some items are always standard-rated. These include catering, alcoholic drinks, confectionery, crisps and savoury snacks, hot food, sports drinks, hot takeaways, ice cream, soft drinks and mineral water.

Restaurants must always charge VAT on everything eaten either on their premises or in communal areas designated for their customers to use, such as shared tables in a shopping centre or airport food courts.

In addition, restaurants and takeaway vendors must charge VAT on all hot takeaways and home deliveries, but don't need to charge VAT on cold takeaway food unless it's to be eaten in a designated area.

Certain animals, animal feeding products, plants and seeds also qualify for the zero-rate, but only if the conditions in the following VAT Notices are met, however products packaged as pet food are standard rated.

VAT refunds on aids and appliances used by people with disabilities

- Introduction
- Rules
- How to apply
- Where to apply

Introduction

If you live in Ireland and you have a disability, you may get a refund of Value-Added Tax \(VAT\) on certain special aids and appliances that you need. In some cases people who pay for aids and appliances that are for the exclusive use of a person with a disability can also claim the VAT refund. People with both physical and mental disabilities can avail of these refunds.

This scheme of VAT refunds on aids and appliances can also apply to adaptation and installation work being carried out to make a home more suitable for an older person or for a person with a disability – see „Housing adaptations“ below.

Rules

Under the Value-Added Tax \(Refund of Tax\) \(No. 15\) Order 1981, you can claim a VAT refund on aids and appliances that help you carry out daily activities at home or at work. You may need to produce medical evidence of your disability.

VAT refunds are not allowed on services for people with disabilities or on rented aids and appliances.

To claim a VAT refund you must:

- x Live in Ireland
- x Have a disability
- x Need the aid or appliance to help with daily activities

The aid or appliance must be owned by the person with the disability and be for their exclusive use. If the VAT refund is being sought by someone other than the user of the aid or appliance, Revenue may ask for evidence that the aid is solely owned by the person with the disability and is for their sole use. In this case, these goods must not be supplied in the course of a business run by the purchaser of the goods.

Examples of eligible aids and appliances include:

- x Domestic aids, for example, eating and drinking aids
- x Walk-in baths
- x Commode chairs
- x Lifting seats and specified chairs
- x Braille books
- x Hoists and lifts, including stair lifts
- x Communication aids

Assist Ireland has information on a wide range of aids and appliances for people with disabilities.

More information on how to reclaim VAT on aids and appliances for people with disabilities can be found on revenue.ie.

Housing adaptations

If you are having your home improved or adapted to make it more accessible, you may be able to claim a refund of VAT paid on the cost of installation and adaptation work. You may also qualify for a grant, such as the Housing Adaptation Grant for People with a Disability, the Mobility Aids Grant Scheme or the Housing Aid for Older People Scheme. Read more about housing grants and schemes.

Buying and adapting a vehicle

You can claim remission or repayment of vehicle registration tax (VRT), repayment of VAT on the purchase of a vehicle and repayment of VAT on the cost of adapting a vehicle, up to a maximum amount. You can find out more in our document on Tax relief for disabled drivers and passengers.

How to apply

To apply for a VAT refund on aids and appliances, fill in claim form VAT 61A \(pdf\).

You must attach supporting documentation with your claim - for example, original invoices for all the goods in the claim or, in the case of imported goods, receipts for VAT paid at importation.

In the case of a hire purchase agreement, you will need to supply a copy of the agreement and the invoice.

You must make your claim within 4 years from the end of the taxable period in which you purchased the aid or appliance. Taxable periods within each year are:

- x January/February
- x March/April
- x May/June
- x July/August
- x September/October
- x November/December

For example, a claim made in respect of an invoice issued in January 2015 must be made no later than February 2018.

GST in India and Beyond

Goods and Services Tax, or GST, is a common transactional tax type globally. In this whitepaper, we will explore the concept of GST as it applies around the world, then delve into the specifics of how GST relates to India.

To start, let's take a look at a roundup of the VAT/GST structure of some major world economies, including tax rates, threshold limits, exemptions, and zero-rated transactions. This provides a foundation for understanding India's GST.

European Union (EU)

The European Economic Community (EEC) adopted VAT throughout Europe, replacing cascading multi-stage turnover tax. VAT was implemented due to the ease with which it handled cross-border transactions and facilitated the development of a common market.

The VAT Directive sets the framework for VAT structure in the EU, but leaves national governments with the freedom to set the number and level of rates they choose. They may use provisions of VAT Directives in national legislation, subject to the following basic rules:

1. Goods or services supplied in the course of business by a taxable person within the EU are subject to VAT at a standard rate not lower than 15%, unless specifically exempt.
2. EU member states can opt to apply one or two reduced rates of not less than 5%.
3. Member states may subject certain goods or services listed in Annex III of the VAT Directive, such as food, water, pharmaceuticals, books, admission to cultural/amusement/sporting events, social services, medical services and equipment, agricultural inputs, to lower rates, including zero rates, which were in place on Jan. 1, 1991, though they cannot introduce any new rate under 5%.
4. Goods and services in the public interest, such as medical care, services linked to welfare and social security work by public entities or charitable organizations, certain education and cultural services, specific financial and insurance services, certain supplies of land and buildings, export of goods, and shipments of intra-EU supplies are exempt from VAT.

Canada

In Canada, GST is applicable on supply of most goods and services, including real property and intangible personal property, and is governed by the Excise Tax Act. Canada has a federal government (like India's), and a federal GST was introduced in 1991 to replace the existing federal sales tax imposed on manufacturers and certain licensed wholesalers at a general rate of 13.5%. However, all provinces continued with the provincial retail sales tax („PST“), thereby having two levels of tax levied. The harmonized sales tax (HST) is imposed in provinces that have harmonized their provincial sales tax with the GST (New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Labrador, Ontario, Prince Edward Island) and is a combination of a federal component and a provincial component (5-8%) applicable generally on the same base of property and services as the GST.

In the remaining provinces, GST is imposed on taxable goods and services, along with provincial sales tax or a retail sales tax.

The three territories (Northwest Territories, Nunavut, and Yukon), as well as the province of Alberta, charge GST at the rate of 5%. Most goods and services supplied in or imported into Canada are considered taxable supplies, and are subject to GST at the rate of 5% or HST in the range of 13% to 15% (federal component of 5% and provincial component of 8 to 10%), with certain exceptions based on policy decisions, such as:

- x Exports and supplies of goods and services relating to basic needs of individuals, such as drugs and biologicals, medical and assistive devices, basic groceries, agriculture and fishing, transportation and travel etc. are taxed at the rate of 0% (zero-rated).
- x Supplies of goods and services supporting public needs such as certain real property, healthcare, educational, child and personal care, legal aid, public sector bodies, financial services, ferry/road/bridge tolls etc. are exempted from GST/HST.

New Zealand

The New Zealand GST, enacted in 1988, was designed as a comprehensive tax base including many difficult-to-tax goods and services. The New Zealand GST became an international benchmark for indirect tax design. For instance, the Institute of Fiscal Studies of United Kingdom considered the New Zealand GST model as the benchmark for evaluation of European VAT Directives.

In New Zealand, GST is governed by the GST Act of 1985 and is applicable on most indigenous goods and services, most imported goods, and certain specified imported services at a rate of 15%.

The “Goods” category includes all types of personal and real property except actionable claims, money, and products transmitted by a non-resident to a resident by means of wire, cable, radio or other technical systems. The “Services” category covers everything other than goods or money.

When supplying certain goods and services, such as exported goods and services or telecommunication services, the supplier is governed by a territorial authority. Proceeds from the local authorities, sales of going concern (slump sale), and sale of land are subject to GST at the rate of 0%.

Supply of certain goods and services, such as private property (car or home not used for business), financial services such as interest payment on loan or bank fees, donated products and services sold by nonprofit organizations, rentals of residential property, and penalty interest are all exempt from GST.

Australia

The implementation of New Tax System package in Australia, including New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act of 1999, was considered a landmark change to the Australian tax system. The new GST replaced the federal wholesale sales tax and some state and territory taxes with a single tax rate of 10% on the supply of most goods and services, with some exceptions.

- x The basic rule of GST in Australia is destination-based consumption tax, with limited tax base exclusions.
- x Certain supplies, such as certain food products, most medical and health services, drugs, medical aids and appliances, most education courses, childcare, exports, religious services, and international transport are known as GST-free (other countries refer to these as zero-rated).
- x Certain supplies, such as financial supplies, residential rent, residential premises, precious metals, school shops and canteens and fundraising events conducted by charities are known as input-taxed supplies (other countries refer to these as exempt) and no GST is applicable on such supplies.

Observations from VAT/GST in Other Jurisdictions

A trend can be observed from the VAT/GST legislation and provisions in the aforementioned jurisdictions. VAT/GST are destination-based, and therefore apply to consumption taking place in the respective country/region. These taxes, therefore, exempt exports and tax imports.

Furthermore, input tax credits can be claimed for the cost of procuring and producing, in the case of zero-rated supplies, and cannot be claimed in case of exempted supplies.

VAT/GST has emerged as the successful choice among other forms of indirect taxation. Jurisdictions using these taxes work continuously toward reforming structural issues. An example of this occurred in December 2010, when the European Commission published a Green Paper on the future of VAT, arguing that there were “numerous shortcomings in the current VAT system which create obstacles to the Internal Market, cause burdens for businesses and prevent Member States from benefiting from the true potential of this tax.” The paper also pointed out the system is susceptible to fraud.

Businesses report finding the EU VAT model very complicated, due to its complicated exemption application rules. Reduced rates among member states cause competitive distortion and create additional compliance costs borne by businesses conducting cross-border trade when compared to businesses that only trade domestically. In Canada, businesses face challenges under GST/HST due to interpretation issues and the variation of tax rates between provinces. Although British Columbia harmonized its PST with the GST in July 2010, it re-implemented PST in 2013. In all jurisdictions, even New Zealand and Australia, compliance costs under VAT/GST have been reported to burden small businesses more.

Proposed GST Structure in India

The proposed GST in India consists of a consumption-type VAT, in which only final consumption is treated as the final use of a good. GST is expected to integrate taxes on goods and services across the supply chain, allowing for offsets and capture of value addition at each stage. A continuous chain of offsets is expected to be established, from the level of the original producer or service provider to the retailer’s level, which would eliminate the burden of all cascading (or “tax on a tax”) effects. Suppliers at each stage would be permitted to set off the GST paid on the purchase of input goods and services against their GST obligations to be paid on the supply of goods and services.

Salient features of the proposed GST model based on reports of the Empowered Committee are summarized below:

1. Aligned with the federal structure of the Indian government, the proposed GST model consists of a dual structure (like in Canada) to be levied and collected by the Union government [referred to as Central GST (CGST)] and respective State governments [referred to as State GST (SGST)]. This dual GST model would be implemented and governed by one CGST/IGST statute applicable across the country, SGST statutes for each state, and common rules determining valuation, place of supply, and place of origin.

This would imply that the Centre and the states would have concurrent jurisdiction for the entire value chain and the basic principles of law, such as chargeability, definition of taxable event and taxable person, and measure of levy (including valuation provisions and basis of classification) will be uniform across State statutes. Draft laws are already written and under internal discussions. Also, various allied rules are in the process of being drafted and finalized.

2. CGST and SGST would be comprehensively applicable to all goods and services up to the final consumer (retail) level, reflecting the tax base of a typical consumption VAT. Therefore, CGST and SGST would be applicable to all transactions involving supply of goods and services made for a consideration, except alcoholic liquor for human consumption, exempted goods and services, goods which are outside the purview of GST, and transactions below the prescribed threshold limits.
3. Based on recommendations of both the 13th Finance Commission and Empowered Committee, GST on following products shall be levied from a date to be notified by the GST Council –
 - x Petroleum Crude
 - x High Speed Diesel
 - x Motor Spirit (commonly known as Petrol)
 - x Natural Gas
 - x Aviation Turbine Fuel
4. GST is to be structured on the destination principle, so that the tax base shifts from production to consumption. This way, imports will create a tax liability while exports will be relieved of the burden of GST. Consequently, revenues will accrue to the State in which the consumption takes place or is deemed to take place.
5. Taxes paid on input goods/services against CGST shall be allowed to be utilized as input tax credit (ITC) against output tax liabilities under CGST, and the same principle applies to SGST. Cross-utilization of input tax credits between the Central GST and the State GST would not be allowed, except in case of interstate supply of goods and services. Therefore, a taxpayer or exporter shall be required to maintain separate details in books of account for using or refunding credit.
6. In order to maintain an uninterrupted credit chain, CST would be phased out in case of interstate transactions of taxable goods. On such transactions, Centre would levy Integrated GST (referred to as IGST, which can be calculated by adding CGST to SGST) with appropriate provision for consignment or stock transfer of goods and services. The inter-state seller will pay IGST on value addition after adjusting available credit for IGST, CGST, and SGST on his purchases.
7. The importing dealer will claim credit of IGST while discharging his output tax liability in his own state. The relevant information will also be submitted to the Central Agency, which will act as a clearing house mechanism, verify the claims, and inform the respective governments to transfer the funds.
8. A uniform threshold across all states and Union territories is being considered, with adequate compensation for the states (particularly, the states in the North-Eastern Region and Special Category States) where a lower threshold had prevailed in the VAT regime.
9. In view of the fact that the CGST and SGST are intended to be levied on consumption of all goods and services, these two taxes must subsume all taxes presently levied on various goods and services by the Centre and the states, respectively. With an objective of free flow of tax credit in intrastate and interstate levels, following indirect taxes are proposed to be subsumed:

Central Levies – Central Excise Duty, Service Tax, Excise Duty levied under the Medicinal and Toilet Preparations (Excise Duties) Act of 1955, Additional Duty and Special Additional Duty of Customs, Central cesses and surcharges insofar as they relate to supply of goods and services.

State Levies – Value Added Tax/Sales Tax, Entertainment Tax (other than the tax levied by the local bodies), Central Sales Tax, Octroi and Entry Tax, Purchase Tax, Luxury Tax, Taxes on lottery, betting and gambling, State cesses and surcharges insofar as they relate to the supply of goods and services.

Expectations from proposed GST Regime

The global spread of VAT/GST reinforces the success of the VAT/GST system of indirect taxation over any other form of tax. With India inching towards a GST regime, a set of key expectations surrounds economic development, growth in international trade, moderate taxes, and stability in prices. Taxpayers hope for the new tax structure to be simple and uniform, clear and transparent, making compliance easier through administrative improvements and the creation of simpler and faster mechanisms for redressing grievances.

Economic Expectations

The existing indirect tax system of multiple levies across sectors of production has led to reports of distortions in the allocation of resources, as well as production inefficiencies. Non-recoverable taxes built into retail costs make Indian products more expensive than their imported equivalents, making it difficult for domestic producers to compete. GST is therefore expected to provide a boost to exports by mitigating costs. This change is estimated to increase exports by 3.2-6.3%.

The broad objectives behind introducing a comprehensive GST in India include harmonization and consolidation of multiple indirect taxes in India, the creation of a common national market by widening the tax base and cutting down exemptions, mitigation of cascading and double taxation, and promotion of voluntary compliance through a lower overall tax burden on businesses and end consumers. Today, the GST design includes aberrations, like a 1% additional tax, exclusion of certain sectors of the economy, and exclusion of certain taxes that make the design deviate from these objectives. It is expected that these aberrations would be temporary, and the GST will eventually be an all-encompassing tax that can fulfill the expectations of Indian businesses and people. It is hoped that with GST encouraging compliance, economic sectors that currently constitute parallel economies would enter the mainstream and further boost the GDP.

Taxpayer Expectations

As per OECD guidelines, the generally accepted principles of tax policy applicable to consumption taxes are applicable to domestic as well as international trade. These principles include neutrality, efficiency, certainty, simplicity, effectiveness, and fairness. The proposed GST structure in India is expected to use best practices established by current VAT/GST countries. Taxpayer expectations include the following:

1. Tax Neutral:

Tax neutrality ensures that tax ultimately collected on a particular supply chain is proportionate to the amount of tax paid by the final consumer. A credit mechanism to prevent breakages in credit chain is anticipated under the GST regime in India. With moderate rates, this mechanism will be tax neutral, does not lead to any increase in prices of goods and services, and serves the interests of producers catering to domestic and international markets without undue advantage to one over another.

2. Simple, efficient and uniform:

GST is expected to overcome the issues and shortcomings of the existing indirect tax structure. Historically, the indirect tax regime in India has been very complex, with multiple levies at multiple taxable events. GST is expected to introduce a simple, efficient, and uniform indirect tax structure in India with a comprehensive tax that may be levied on the supply of all goods and services, using the same tax base. Expectations are that a taxable event would occur simultaneously on supply of goods and services, and taxability would not be dependent on „goods“ or „services“ (as it is under the current regime). Additionally, existing complexities relating to works contracts, software, and intellectual property are expected to be eliminated, making taxation of such transactions simpler and reducing the overall tax burden. Challenges being faced at present by sectors such as ecommerce, telecom, financial services, real estate, and so on, are expected to be addressed and resolved. The complexities of the existing system concerning valuations and classification of goods and services, on account of the varied interpretations and rulings, will be eliminated. There is also expected to be a lower administrative burden due to the increased simplicity of standardizing GST returns/challans and payments, as well as providing for easy access through a central web portal for registration and refunds.

3. Clarity in GST legislations:

Benefits of a comprehensive national GST are greatest with common laws and rules applicable across states and Centre. Since the now-released (as of June 30, 2016) Model Draft of GST Act is available in the public domain, it still remains unclear which rate structure and redressal mechanism will be adopted. Clearly-drafted legislation will go a long way toward making GST a success.

Closing Comments

Because GST has been shown to be a simple, efficient, and successful form of indirect taxation globally, its introduction by target date (April 1, 2017) would contribute significantly towards economic growth. The GST is keenly awaited by all who have lived through the maze of the current inefficient, irrational and complex indirect tax system in India.
